THE FIFTH DAY.

THE GREAT RACES STILL DRAW THE CROWD.

Many Fine Saddle Horses in the Speed Ring this Morning—The Flambeau Display To-night.

Yesterday has come and gone but there remains to the thousands of visitors the memory of the great $5,000 race which will linger with them as one of the most intensely exciting events ever seen on a Missouri race track. The grand stand was one immense sea of humanity.

The young man with the checked pants staked his last dollar on his favorite and then howled to find that his "tip" was a fake. Over eager men and boys even climbed over the fence into the loop and at times the police had difficulty in keeping the finish clear as the horses came thundering down the track.

The second, third and fourth quarters of the track show the action of the horses to a pleasing advantage. At the west end a good side view of the horses can be obtained, showing plainly which ones are in the lead. As they turn on to the last third, the fastest part of track, all look as if they were bunching and the inability to tell for a certainty who is in the lead causes a whirlwind of excitement among those who may be interested in particular horses.

Every visitor left Sedalia yesterday with nothing but the kindest wishes for our city, her people, her improvements and especially the great and peerless kite track. For a short time early yesterday afternoon the sky looked threatening and many fears were expressed that a rain would demoralize the racing. Happily, however, the dark clouds in the north smiled in the sunshine and they scurried away in the horizon. The sun beat down quite warm and the sprinklers were called into frequent use to keep the dust from blinding the drivers and interfering with an obstructed view from the grand stand.

To-day was cooler, in fact, a perfect day, and the lovers of good racing took advantage of it and turned out in large numbers. The races were on a par with all previous days which is saying a great deal, for in not a single instance, this is candidly and emphatically stated, have the races been other than strictly first-class in every respect. No such a first meeting has ever been held in the state and the directors will find it an immense undertaking to surpass their present record. The races to-morrow will be found below and speak for themselves. The consolation prize of $1,000 for horses who took no money in the $5,000 race yesterday deserves special notice. The entries are all fast horses and the races promise to be equally as exciting as its predecessor.

Yesterday's Races.

The $5,000 trot was a grand event. Eighteen horses passed the starter's stand and all but three remained until the last heat was trotted. To one accustomed to turf sights, it seemed almost impossible to send the horses away with any evenness. They started in two bunches, however, with Billy Bolton a favorite. He won the heat in a sharp contest with Albert S. and Lydia D. Time, 2:24.

In the second heat John R. Gentry's mare, Bertie R., more than exceeded the expectations of her friends. Billy Bolton was rather unchivalrous in crowding her closely, but the little mare responded bravely and won in 2:20 flat, breaking the record for a Missouri bred four-year-old.

The friends of Grace Napoleon now began to tell what their favorite would do, and she did not disappoint them. She breasted Bertie R. at the quarter pole and they had a give and take time to the three-quarters pole. Albert S. tried to come in at this point but went off his feet and finished third. Time, 2:20 1/2.

Grace Napoleon had on her trotting clothes in the fourth heat and led most of the time, winning in 2:21.

The fifth heat soon showed Grace Napoleon to be the winner. She was handled well by her driver. Shortly before the half-mile post was reached she commenced to spurt and the daylight began to open wider and wider between the mare and her followers. None of them were in it at the finish, as Grace Napoleon's driver pulled on the reins to give the others a chance. Time 2:22.

This grand race was something long to be remembered by those who saw it. The track was filled with horses and the rush and roar of their feet readily recalled to those who had read it the wonderful chariot race in "Ben-Hur."

The 2:22 trotting race for the $1,000 purse had nine starters. Idavan won the first heat in 2:19 1/2. Nina Medium the second in the last time of 2:17 1/2, and King Herod the third in 2:19 1/2. The race was postponed until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

King Herod was the seventh in the first two heats. Sam Fuller decided to bring in the pneumatic sulky and knocked the stuffing out of things by coming in first in the third heat. The wheels of the sulky are only 28 inches high.

To-day's Awards.

The only awards to day were for Hereford cattle and saddle horses. There was lots of enthusiasm manifested by the crowd in the latter awards and when certain parts of the crowd saw the blue ribbon tied on to any other than their favorite, then went loud cries of "take it off, take it off!" of course the winners friends yelled just as lustily for him.

The Flambeau Display.

The Sedalia flambeau club will give a grand exhibition and pyrotechnic display to-night. This famous organization is well known throughout the country having appeared with great credit to itself in Washington, D. C., St. Louis and other prominent cities. The club will be under the able command of Capt. John Glenn and will do its marching on Ohio street between Main and Fifth. The brilliant illumination of the countless colored lights on Ohio street has already made that thoroughfare a marvel of beauty. The scene to night, however, promises to be worth coming miles to see. The sky will be filled with exploding bombs and bursting rockets, the street packed and jammed with people and everybody out for a good time.

The special trains on the M., K. & T., going both north and south, will be held until after the display.

Notes.

Master George Withers made a good showing in the speed ring.

The M., K. & T. will run specials both north and south to night at 10:30 to accommodate those who wish to remain for the flambeau display.

Juliet, Comus, Beattie and Lillie Bush will start to-morrow for a consolation purse offered to horses which failed to take money in the 2:30 pace of Wednesday.

John R. Gentry and W. H. McKinney, of Kansas City, were so much enthused over the pneumatic sulky that they immediately wired for one each. The wheels cost $150 and can be used on the regular sulky. An increase in time from 2 to 3 seconds is claimed.

The excitement in the four-year-old or over saddle mare show was intense. Wade Wilfong, the well known colored Hercules went wild and was a source of much amusement to the crowd as he raced up and down the track when the award was made to Master Edna Monsees.

Driver Mike Costella who was suspended for fighting on the track last Wednesday, was re-instated to-day and fined $20. The petition was signed by every horseman on

A MYSTERIOUS PERSON.

Certain People Curious to Know Who A Certain Woman Is.

Patrons of the merry-go-round on West Third are very curious to know who a certain woman is. The woman, dressed in deepest mourning and always heavily veiled, is the most constant frequenter to be found at this place of amusement. Indeed it is said by those who claim to have noticed, that she has not missed a single night since the merry-go-round was set in operation. Moreover, it is said that often in the afternoon she may be seen riding and at night her graceful form may be seen mounted gracefully on one of the wooden horses (she always rides a horse) from the earliest to the latest hour.

No one has ever been seen to speak to her or seem to know who she is. Whether intentional or not, the fact remains that she is so cleverly disguised that her exact identity remains a mystery.

A BRAZEN COUNTERFEITER.

How a Woman Succeeded in Bureaucracy a Main Street Merchant out of Twenty Dollars.

Perhaps the boldest, or more properly, most foolhardy fraud ever perpetrated in Sedalia in the matter of circulating spurious money was that imposed upon a second hand merchant on Main street yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when Minnie Colbert, a young negro woman, entered Peter Arbon's store and secured twenty dollars of good money in exchange for a worthless confederate script.

Arbon is an old man and his eyes are defective, so that he fell an easy victim to the brazen counterfeiter, who no doubt, was thoroughly advised of her subject's ailments before she attempted to put her scheme into execution.

It was not till several hours had elapsed that the merchant discovthe grounds, and while the unfortunate occurrence which caused the suspension is greatly regretted, Mr. Costella is to be congratulated upon having the respect and confidence of the horsemen as was shown by the petition.

The following horses started as special features to-day to make a mile in 2:30 or under: Major Duke, H. W. Roak, Trenton; Yula, J. M. Grant, Oswego, Kas.; Monitor Chippy and Monitor Prince, Coleman's Stock Farm; Star Hawk, John Bostic, Ft. Worth; Lady Egmont, G. A. Hatfield, Wichita; Steelmont, W. S. Brown, Wichita; Breastplate, W. E. Campbell, Kiowa, started to make better than 2:26.

Beer Glass as a Weapon.

Another spirited scrap took place at the fair grounds at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, which resulted in a Holden man getting his forehead smashed with a beer glass, the smasher hailing from Warrensburg. It was an ugly affair indeed.

Go to Raiffisen's opera house bar for the "Old Governor" whiskey. The finest in the market.

Foot Mashed.

Ed Selby had his foot mashed at the shops this morning.

Robbed.

Fred Hoppe was robbed of $18 last night.

Patronize the liquor house at 112 Osage street, Frank Krueger.

Stopped the Game.

Mr. T. W. Gains, a prominent Saline county farmer whose name has been forged to a number of checks during the last five months by some sick rascal, was in town to-day. While here he visited the Sedalia banks and left his signature so that the festive forger will be detected if he attempts the game in Sedalia again.

Free! Free! Free!!!

A STATE FAIR.

Sedalia should at once begin a campaign in favor of a state fair that shall be aided and encouraged by the state. A few thousand dollars of state funds would be well invested if offered by the state in premiums for the best display of Missouri products of all kinds, and Sedalia is the place to hold such exhibition.

The enterprising business men of Sedalia have built the finest and best race track in the world, where the finest types of American horses can show their speed and endurance under most favorable condition.

The grounds are large enough to give room for all kinds of exhibits from the forest, the mines, the farms, the herds and the stables of Missouri.

The artist, the mechanic, the miner, the horseman, the breeder of cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry can and will, if properly encouraged, make an exhibit that will be worth millions of dollars to Missouri both in stimulating competition among our own citizens and in showing strangers the resources of Missouri.

Sedalia is willing to do her part.

Indeed she has already shown evidence of the ability to give the best fair the state has ever had.

But Sedalia cannot, alone and unaided, give the grand exposition that alone would do credit to the state.

The state should aid in organizing and giving every year a state fair worthy of grand old Missouri.

Make Sedalia the permanent headquarters of the state board of agriculture and then offer by the state premiums large enough to encourage competition in all departments.

This will do more for the farming stock-raising and manufacturing interests of Missouri than can be done by expending ten times the money in any other way.

JUDGE KENDALL, of Audrain county, a delegate from that county to the state road convention at Chillicothe, was made a member of the committee appointed to draft a bill to be presented to the legislature to form a basis for a state road law, says the Kansas City Star.

Judge Kendall is the author of "Kendall's Plan," the features of which are road districts six miles square; a salaried road overseer who furnishes men and teams, while the county furnishes tools and materials; the payment of the road tax in money, and no exemption on account of age. This plan will probably be embodied in the bill to be presented to the legislature, and should it be adopted and prove successful in operation, the name of Judge Kendall should be preserved in connection with it.

OUR Saline county friends are anxious for the north and south railroad and say if they were certain that the road would be built they would raise the money that is asked for in short order. Gentlemen, the way to make the road a certainty is for Saline, Pettis, Greene and the other counties to assume that it is a certainty and go to work and raise the sums desired. The money is required to make the present movement an immediate success. Show that the people along the line are favorable to the enterprise and capitalists from elsewhere will seek it as an investment.

FROM a statement recently issued from the census bureau it is seen that the farm mortgage indebtedness averages $100 per capita in Illinois, $104 in Iowa, $170 in Kansas and only $80 in democratic Missouri—not "New Missouri," but good old democratic Missouri. Thus it will be seen that the farmers in Missouri are nearer out of debt than are those of the three states that have been "blest" with republican rule.

A Fine Place.

"The Diamond" saloon is located at 115 West Second street and Mr. Tesser will be glad to see all his old friends. He has a fine lot of cigars and some of the finest brands of wines and liquors to be found in the market.

THE CAMP MEETING.

THE ADVENTISTS ASSEMBLY AT FOREST PARK.

Religious Exercises Without Any Wild Excitement—Synopsis of the Sermons.

doing they are giving the devil a mortgage on the soul, and preparing a way for him to harass and discourage them in after life by flaunting before them at his pleasure a large list of evil deeds which they have committed.

Now is the best time to give your hearts to God and cease to sin.

Can one sin without committing an evil deed?—Jas. 4:17. We can but take God's word as his will toward us, for that is all we know of his plan, and the passage just referred to shows that to refuse to perform a known duty is sin in the sight of God.

Christ's work is to save from sin. Does he save from sin while we are sinning? If a man were drowning and I were to take hold of him and draw him out of the water and let him fall back again I should not be saving him; but to save him I must get him out and keep him out until resuscitated. Now, Christ is to keep us out of sin, but we see many who think they are in Christ constantly falling back into sin. This does not prove that there is no strength in Christ to keep them from falling, but that they have not allowed the Savior to get hold of them unto salvation. You may think that I am a holiness teacher. Isn't that what we need?

1 John 3:17, presents another idea as to what sin is. This together with Isa. 55:7, shows that evil thoughts are sin. If we were more like Christ, would not our influence in the community be more powerful for good? We do not know what is in our own hearts till the spirit of God gets in and reveals sin.

Proverbs 24:9, states that foolishness is sin. The Lord is just as willing to give light to individuals regarding their own needs as He is for the general world respecting the great closing scenes of earth's history. Read your Bibles and know for yourselves the will of God. Hebrews 3:13, "Are you exhorting one another?" Husbands should exhort wives and parents children to have courage in the Lord and trust in Him, and so much the more as ye see the day approaching.

The sermon last night was by Elder J. O. Beard from Dallas, Texas. He took for his text, John 12:32, 33: "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. This he said signifying what death he should die." The subject suggested by the text is the drawing power of Christ. And as it was his mission, "to seek and to save that which was lost," we at once have open before us the great question of what Christ came to do and how he proceeded in order to accomplish that work. In 2nd Corinthians 5:16 we read, "That God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself." Not himself unto the world, for it is not God who is estranged from the world, but the world is estranged from God. It has been a very common idea that God hates the sinner; that he will not hear the sinner's prayer, nor show him any favor, and very many have felt afraid of God as they would of some stern, harsh judge; or have thought of him as a cruel tyrant, a vindictive monster, from whom we needed to be protected. Even professing Christians have been wont to consider him in that light, and to picture Christ as a loving and merciful mediator who steps in to shield us from the wrath of God. But that is not what the bible says. It says in John 3:16: That God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life. God has always loved the world. He has always pitied man in his weakness and in the misery that has come upon him. It was to demonstrate this love of God for man, as well as to provide a sacrifice for him, that Christ came into the world.

The idea that God was a harsh judge, or an exacting tyrant is from Satan, and with it he has always asserted that God's law was too exacting, that the standard was too high, and that man in his weakness could not fulfill the requirements. To be an example to us, and to vindicate the justice of the divine requirements, the Lord Jesus Christ took upon him the form of man, and was made like unto man in all things. Hebrews 2:14-17. This was necessary in order that we might be able to comprehend him, and that he might be to us in all things our example. Then we read in Hebrews 4:15 that Christ, our High Priest, was tempted in all points like we are, but he did not yield to these temptations, and so was without sin. Pursuing this thought further we read in Philippians, 2:6-7, that Christ, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God (thought it not a thing to be grasped as a robber holds his booty); but made himself of no reputation, and took upon himself the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men." In making himself of no reputation he emptied himself of his divine honors, laid aside the exercises of his divine power, and veiled in glory in the flesh of man. In evidence of this we hear him say, "I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me; he gave me a commandment what I should say." John, 12:49. And, "I do nothing of myself; but as my Father hath taught me I speak these things." John, 8:28. Again, "I speak not of myself; but the Father, that dwelleth in me doeth the works." Taking these texts to mean as they read we can understand how God was in Christ to reconcile the world to himself; for when the world heard Christ speak it heard God speaking through him, and when they saw his works it was God working through him. So when they saw the love of Christ for mankind it was the love of God for mankind.

In this way God strove to teach the world that instead of being a tyrant and a monster from whom they needed to be protected, He was a loving Father with all the tenderness towards us of the most affectionate mother for the child of her own bosom. Here again Christ is a wonderful example to us. For of ourselves we cannot do good. Whatever is of self is evil, and self must be entirely cast out that Christ may dwell in us. Christ could have worked in his own name and in his own strength. Had He done so both His words and His work would have been righteous for he is righteous by nature; but to be an example to us he laid aside self that he might represent only the Father. In John 20:21 we are told that as God sent Christ into the world even so Christ sends us. Then as he represented the Father who sent him, we are to represent Christ who sends us. And as we represent Christ, as he is set forth in the Bible, we represent the Father, for God was in Christ. So the message still goes to the world that God is love. It was in his being lifted up; that is, nailed to the cross that our Savior gave the crowning proof of his love, and of love of God for sinful man. Then in every time of trial, when temptations come like the waves of the sea, we can realize that our Savior knows them all, and has felt them with all the force that we feel them. Then let us have in us that mind that was in Christ, and having Christ dwelling in us let us by a life of faith, hold up to a lost and ruined world, a crucified and ruined Lord.

THE SIXTH DAY.

Increasing Complications of the Strike at Buffalo.

THE NEXT PROBABLE MOVEMENTS.

The Firemen and Trainmen to Act—Two or Three Roads Popular With the Men

—Arrival of Militia—Incipient Riot

Checked—A Private Killed.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The sixth day of the switchmen's strike in this city closed with increasing complications. The leaders of the strike have witnessed the movement and massing of troops with growing determination to meet every advance of their opponents with a counter stroke.

The leaders of the striking men said that all the Vanderbilt roads are tied up and inactive at this point. In addition, that the Erie, the Lehigh Valley and the Buffalo Creek roads are likewise paralyzed by the strike. They feel that the movement against the roads has now reached such magnitude in this locality that it may not be necessary for any men in allied trades to be called out at this point. The strikers' reserve is a possible calling out of the switchmen on the Delaware,

Lackawanna &amp; Western; Buffalo,

Rochester &amp; Pittsburgh, and the Western New York &amp; Pennsylvania roads.

The relations of these roads with the strike leaders are extremely amiable and they will not be called out except to make the strike absolutely complete in this vicinity.

Indeed, it is more probable that the firemen and trainmen will be called out on the lines already affected by the switchmen's strike. The writing of this digest of the situation at the hour of 9 o'clock is embarrassed by the fact that

THE ROAD CONVENTION.

The Practicable Method Favored For Improving the Highways.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Aug. 19.—The state road convention yesterday got pretty close to the question of good roads for Missouri by adopting the report of the committee on legislation and means, which was submitted by Hon. B. U.

Massie, chairman, of Springfield. The report of the committee classified roads into three grades or classes: First, macadam, gravel or turnpike roads;

second, well graded and thoroughly drained dirt roads; third, ordinary ditched or graded roads. Roads of the first class are to be constructed in sections of not less than one mile in length upon petition of a majority of abutting property owners, who shall pay not less than 25 per cent. of the cost. Roads of the second and third classes are to be built entirely at the expense of the county. Townships are to constitute road districts as far as practicable and each district is to be in charge of a roadmaker to be employed by the county court.

The report calls for such legislation

as will divert all drain shop licenses to the road fund of the counties, a poll tax and a levy of not exceeding 50 cents on the $100 valuation to be appropriated for the construction of roads of the second and third classes, and to levy such special taxes for roads of the first class as the voters of any county or road district may vote to determine. The report calls attention to the enormous amount of costs in criminal cases paid by the state and proposes that the law be so amended

Miners Stop Another Train—Buchanan's

Call For Aid Treated With Indiffer-

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Exci-tation was at fever heat in the city.

The troops were marching through the city preparing to leave for the scene of disorder and the wildest rumors of sensational developments were afloat. The sheriff was busily engaged with a large number of deputies summoning prominent citizens to report for duty as a special posse.

There was an immense meeting at the court house at noon and the general commanding the militia made an address. Volunteers came thick and 500 could quickly have been secured, but there were guns for only 130. Col. R.

L. Watkins, a prominent and wealthy citizen, was placed in command and the posse marched to a hardware house where 130 men were given Winchester rifles and 100 rounds of ammunition. The posse then entered the militia and the entire company left on a train for the scene of the trouble.

What is to be done with the 1,000 released convicts is a serious problem which now confronts the state officials.

The state prison at Nashville is wholly inadequate. No provision whatever exists for their care or use and there is no provision in the laws which will enable the state to properly feed, clothe and care for them in idleness.

disturbances have occurred public sen-

THE TEXAS FACTIONS.

Clark and Hogg Both Nominated For Governor.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 19.—The Clark convention met this morning and completed its ticket as follows: Attorney-general, E. A. Meadowell, of Cargill; treasurer, George Rice, of Cherokee;

comptroller, Charles Gillespie, of Dallas. The convention then adjourned to wait further development in the Hogg convention.

This morning the Hogg faction adopted the majority report of the platform committee which indorses free and unlimited coinage of silver; favors state banks of issue to be fashioned somewhat after the sub-treasury plan; opposes issues of fictitious stocks and bonds;

favors an income tax; and indorses the present railroad commission law. The delegates from Dallas, Tarrant and Washington counties walked out and doubtless affiliated with the Clark people.

James S. Hogg was then put in nomination and balloting took place with no other names before the convention.

The vote stood: Hogg, 697; Clark, 1083;

Brown, of Grayson, 513; Shepherd, of Dallas, 1; Shaw, of Dallas, 1; D. C. Giddings, 1. Hogg accepted in a fiery

Hurrying to Coal Creek—Anderson

Reported Lynched.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Yesterday afternoon the courthouse bell rang the riot call, and since then the city has been one huge, palpitating nerve. The excitement is intense and beyond description.

At 2 o'clock the wires were cut at Coal

Creek and the people knew that the last step was about to be taken. Shortly thereafter a bulletin was received that an attack had been made upon Camp

Anderson, and from news now obtainable the attack must have been a feeler, as no casualties were reported. In a short time another attack was made and then a third. In the last Gatling guns were brought to bear upon the miners with deadly effect. Many were killed and wounded.

At 6 o'clock last evening the alarming news was brought in that Gen. Anderson had been captured and was being held as a prisoner, with a guard to prevent a hot-headed faction hanging him.

This is said to have disheartened the militia. They are, however, fighting with desperation, as

SAM JONES AT PERTLE SPRINGS

Warrensburg, Mo., August 28th to September 4th, inclusive.

The management of Pertle Springs takes pleasure in announcing the engagement of the celebrated revivalist, Rev. Sam P. Jones, for a series of lectures, August 28th to September 4th, inclusive. The Rev. Jones will be assisted in his eight days' work by the Rev. Stewart, of Georgia. The Missouri Pacific R'y, recognizing the importance of this engagement, has made a rate of one fare for the round trip from all points in Missouri to Warrensburg and return. This promises to be one of the most important events in the history of Pertle Springs, and a large attendance is expected. See your nearest Missouri Pacific ticket agent in reference to rates, dates of sale, etc.

Cures Effectually.

While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Paragoric and Laudanum, without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C. Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved.—O. G. BURFORD, Harris Creek, Amherst Co., Va. For sale by Aug. ### ORATORICAL CONTEST

Held at Booneville and Participated in by Collegians of the Eighth Congressional District.

An oratorical contest, participated in by six young men of the Eighth congressional district who have been in college within the past twelve months, was the occasion of considerable interest to the collegians of Cooper county, and Booneville especially last evening.

The contest was held at the Thespian Hall in the Vine Clad city and the stake was $50, donated by that liberal hearted man whom many have blessed, Hon. Jno. R. Walker.

The orators were as follows: R. M. Embry, Tipton; J. R. Allen, Pilot Grove; W. P. Speed, Lucien Wright, Fred Bronaugh and Harley Young, Booneville.

The judges were composed of Revs. Boone, Wilkes and Leyburn and Capt. S. W. Ravenel of Booneville, and Judge John Waller of Buncheon.

After the oratorical gladiators had faced one another, the judges retired, shortly to return and announce that the prize was awarded to Richard M. Embry, of Tipton. Fred Bronaugh, son of Capt. F. P. Bronaugh, well known in this county, was second honoree.

The successful contestant owes his achievement to no small measure to the instruction he received in the art of speaking and writing at Pilot Grove institute, while placed under the tuition of its former president, Prof. D. L. R. e. Prof. Roe himself while at Central college, Fayette, won substantial laurels in the oratorical line, and since he has grown from an humble student to an educator of marked ability, his opportunities for developing natural elocutionary talent have been so well improved that to-day he stands with but few equals in the state.

Exercise, but not Too Violently.

From the London Truth.

Ladies may be interested to know that a muddy complexion is often a consequence of violent climbing of hills, the blood losing when overcharged with carbonic acid, its ruddy glow and the skin delicacy in trying to aid in working off the poison. Soft, clear complexions are much more common in the "rolling" countries than in the highlands. The Swedish women have in this respect a great advantage over the Norwegians; and, as far as I can judge from personal observation, the Ayrshire girls have more to be proud of the Highland ones. Those who go in for pedestriandism and lawn tennis should carefully drill their breathing organs to keep their good looks (when blessed with them) or to improve their appearance when they are not good looking. Spirits suffer just as much from the self-poisoning process of which I have been speaking. Have you ever noticed what fearfully cross-beings gentlemen become after a hard day's deer stalking?

Proud of the Queen City?

From the Green Ridge Enterprise.

The many improvements that are being made in and around Sedalia through private and public enterprise, surprise visiting strangers who are residents of even progressive cities. A visit to the fair will give many of our Pettis county people the opportunity of being surprised also, and of feeling a little glow of pleasure that Sedalia is their own Queen City, notwithstanding a few occasional growls on their part.

BEFORE THE CAD.

Twenty Cases Show up Before the Judge This Morning.

Too much liquor took the slack out of the sails of thirteen men yesterday and the result was that they were brought before the Judge this morning.

Jim Fan, John Hughes, John Alberts, John Jones, J. D. Sullivan, E. W. Lewis, Will Wisker, W. B. Kidwell, Louis Landman all got $5 each. Henry Morris and Bill Black plead not guilty to being intoxicated but according to evidence were found guilty and were fined $6 each. John Kienhoe charged with vagrancy was dismissed with a reprimand. Ed. Collins charged with trespassing on the grounds of the Missouri Pacific was fined $10 but was given a stay to leave the city.

W. W. Glem, who hit some young fellow with a beer glass at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon and almost laid him out, had his case continued until August 26.

J. D. Sullivan got a fine of $7 for disturbing the peace.

Geo. Washington, charged with disturbing the peace, had his case continued until August 22.

Jas. Carter for using obscene and indecent language on the street, was granted a continuance until August 22nd.

Anton Kollwizor, J. W. Bryant and Sam Wilson charged with late hours were fined $10 each but were granted a stay to leave.

Wise Selection.

Mrs. Kate Ellis Peed, wife of Major Peed, of the Sweet Springs Herald, has been added to the faculty of Marmaduke's Military Academy. She will have charge of the elocution department. The many admirers of Mrs. Peed, who have been entertained by her recitals will readily recognize the action on the part of the academy as a manifestation of wisdom.

A Very Stealth.

W. H. Bonnell, special agent for the Wabash, and one of the shrewdest as well as one of the bravest detectives in the country, is here with his both eyes skinned.

Bonnell is the same man who in June, 1882, captured a band of robbers while they were attempting to hold up a "Katy" train at Danton, Texas.

One of the robbers he was compelled to send to the happy hunting ground. The others surrendered.

A Fine Assortment.

Visitors to Sedalia during the fair will find one of the finest assortments of cigars, pipes, tobacco and everything that delights a smoker's eye, at the Sedalia Cigar Co., 121 East Second street.

A Good Place.

All attendants of the fair are cordially invited to call at 212 Ohio street and sample the fine wines, liquors and beer kept by A. Bengley.

Col. Cooper Chats.

Col. N. B. Cooper, ex-collector, and one of the leading politicians of Howard county, is taking in the fair to-day.

He says his county will come over 500 strong to the rally here on the 30th.

As for national politics he thinks Cleveland has a walk over.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of Mrs. E. B. Parish Sr., (not the wife of Engineer Parish as was stated by the DEMOCRAT's informant yesterday) will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Porter Wells 414 Engineer street.

More varieties and better grade of fresh meats than any market in the city at Stevenson's.

Kite Shape Track

is completed, so is the stock of pure whiskeys, wines, beer and all kinds of fine drinks at the Queen City bar, corner Main and Kentucky streets.

J. G. FISHER.

Fresh pork sausage at Stevenson's.

Stores Closed.

In accordance with the mayor's proclamation all houses of public business are closed to-day and everybody is taking in the fair.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S MOTHER.

The Story of Her Who Made the Great Man What He Was.

"All I am I owe to my mother."
So said the most typical American of Americans, Abraham Lincoln.

Only recently has Mr. Lincoln's genealogy been definitely ascertained. On his father's side he came from the Puritan stock. His mother belonged to a family of Quakers. From Uriah Hanks was descended Nancy, the mother of the illustrious, God-given, martyr-president.

She was a winsome Virginian maiden, tall, dark, dignified, with few equals in her day for grace of manner and intellectual attainments. Her reverent, devout nature was given her by generations of pious ancestors, men who believed in God, feared Him and nobody else.

She went with her brave husband out on the frontiers of western life, leaving behind the sunny south. Few books were to be had, except her constant volume, the Bible, and her noble conduct accords with its precepts. She longed for a larger life, but patiently endured her lot. Yet do not wonder that the almond-shaped eyes looked sadly into the past, and a shadow often threw itself across her benign face as she reflected upon a cheerless present and a dismal future.

Her home was a log cabin of one room only. No door had been hung. The skin of a deer stretched across the opening—a poor protection for the winter's blast. The stars could be seen, as she lay on her rude bed of straw. In this shelter Abraham Lincoln was born, on February 12, 1809; and when he was ten years old he was left motherless.

In after years he speaks of her, this great woman, so brief a space given to him and given amid such fearful odds, such poverty, such hardship. The verdict he gave is: "All I am I owe to my mother."

Oh, men of America, what a testimony from our greatest modern American! Aye, the greatest of all our heroes! And how many more could reach his words if called upon to testify! And you, the mothers of our great ones and of all the "dead" hearted and brave, such a message as this to you is a thrill of joy.

She it was who in ten short years of his infant life so molded his character, purified his ambitions, made his aims—and him all he was to us and the race—that in his after days and amid all his checkered life she still remained his guiding angel, the star of his proud, glorious destiny, until the assassin's bullet set him free to rejoin the mother to whom he owed so much.—N. Y. Ledger.

SHE KNEW A BARGAIN.

A Woman Who Wanted to Buy "Pants" in Boston.

It was noonday, and lower Washington street was crowded with the usual throng of hurrying pedestrians. At the corner of Milk street a young man with a satchel slung at his side was trying with some degree of success to attract the attention of those who passed. In one hand he held a pair of pantaloons with the heaviest part down, and as he swung them slowly back and forth he called out at varying intervals: "Here they are, now, only ten cents a pair; they remove wrinkles and prevent baggy knees. Ten cents is all they are."

These and kindred remarks he varied from time to time by asking loudly: "Who's the next one to take a pair? Only ten cents a pair."

Presently there appeared on the scene a woman, somewhat past the prime of life, and evidently from the rural districts on a shopping expedition. She stopped and looked at the young man, fixing her eyes on the suspended garments with a natural curiosity. Just then the previous statements of the young man were renewed with fresh emphasis:

"They're only ten cents, a dime! That's all they are, gents; only ten cents a pair!"

He didn't notice the woman, and while he was looking the other way she took advantage of her opportunity to examine the texture of the cloth in the pantaloons. She felt of the thickness, adjusted her spectacles to examine the stitching and the color, and seemed perfectly satisfied.

"I'll take 'em," she said.
The young man, not quite catching the remark, turned around and, seeing the woman standing there, pocket-book in hand, he opened his satchel and handed her a pair of the curved-wire devices that he was trying to sell. The woman looked at him in astonishment. As she bent over, with her eyes close to the trousers—for she was very near-sighted—the young man understood her mistake, and, half to her and half to the crowd, he announced, in the same tone that he had used before:

"I'm not selling pants, but the latest improved pants' stretchers; only ten cents a pair; that's all they are; one dime, ten cents!" and the woman, perplexed and disappointed, moved away, and was borne along in the surging crowd.—Boston Journal.

Bang.
They had been watching for some time the stowing of freight into the capacious hull of a lake steamer when, rather unexpectedly, operations ceased and the boat pulled out.
"What's that boat going off for?" inquired the lady.

"Possibly," responded the man, abstractedly, "because it is loaded."
The lady looked around for a dray pin to hit him with, but there was none, and the river flowed silently on.—Detroit Free Press.

A Wise Determination.
"Why don't you get a good horse, uncle?" asked Fangle of the aged darkey who drove an ash cart.
"I'm er-goin' to do that, boss. I'm er-goin' down to the hoss market tomorrow an' I'll buy a good hoss of it costs me five dollars."—Brooklyn Life.

SEDALIA, MISSOURI, FRIDAY AUGUST 19, 1892.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

THE FAIR.

An Epoch in the Racing Events of the State.

Thousands Crowd to the Fair Grounds--Red Letter Week in Sedalia's History

STANDS SUPREME.

Most of the Awards are Now Made--The Stock Exhibits up to Thursday.

Closely Contested Races all the Week--Notes of Visitors and Other Incidents.

Sedalia thinks this week that her great name of "Queen City of the Prairies" does not fully express all to which she is entitled by the reputation she has established during the present week. "Empress of the West" is what she was eloquently termed by a distinguished gentleman from a distance.

Our city is but tasting the glory of her great future. Any criticism of past events within her gates are forever silenced by the magnificent ovation tendered her by the visiting multitudes. They open their eyes in astonishment and are almost credulous to think that such a magnificent little city with her enterprising business men, her fine business houses and private residences, her paved streets, her electric railways, etc., has flourished before their very eyes while they hardly knew it. An eye has watched over her and a power has swayed her fortunes in a glorious way. While competitors slept, she has labored throughout the long days and nights, and on this present occasion she has asked the judgment of her sister cities. And she has exceeded her present expectations. This week of all weeks has done for Sedalia a work that will produce fruits when her present gray haired fathers have passed to their rest and their sons and daughters have taken up the charge left to them.

The trains coming into the city were crowded and jammed even to the baggage cars and platforms. Numerous specials arrived over the railroads and it was plain to be seen that there were not cars enough. The $5,000 trot brought people and horsemen from all parts of the state. It was horse week. The week was fair as a June rose, the horses finer than silk. The immense grand stand was filled to overflowing, the betting paddock was jammed with the talent, every one of whom, of course, had "tips". The sideshows beat their drums, the snake charmer let the wind blow through her wooly wig and the indispensable small boy had taffy smeared from his ears to the roots of his abbreviated hair. Sedalia has never before seen such a week and it is only a forecast of what is in store for her. The fair management has a smile that reaches from the Mississippi to the mouth of the Kaw. They were glad that they were connected with the fair and that they lived in Sedalia.

Monday's Races.

The racing Monday was first class. Each race had a sufficient number of entries to make it exciting and as there was good money offered for the winners, each driver did his best to pass under the wire first. The track was a trifle soft in places, but on the whole was in good condition. It was even better to-day and will continue to improve with each day's racing. A pair of field glasses are indispensable in distinguishing each individual horse and driver when they are passing the one-half mile post.

The first race to be trotted on the track was the 2:27 trot for a $1,000 purse, three best in five to harness. Irene and Cicerone were favorites with many and it was thought that the latter would win in three straight heats, so well did he work in the first two. Irene surprised the crowd in third heat by taking first place, while Cicerone went off his feet and landed fourth. He was winner in the fourth heat, however. Below is the score:

Cicerone, b s, G. R. Voorheis, Jerseyville, Ill.	1	4	1
Irene, br m, Alex Frazier, Kansas City	2	1	6
Mondade, b g, W. T. Dickson, St. Louis	3	2	2
Hurly Burly, ch s, E. Pyle, Syracuse, Neb.	2	8	6
Elmo Maid, b m, A. A. Scott, Lima, Ohio	4	3	3
John L., b g, Ed Burke, Belton, Mo.	6	5	5
Susie B., b m, D. Ames, Belton, Mo.	7	5	7
Kenneth, b c, Rush Elmo, Kansas City	5	7	8

There were four starters in the yearling dash for $500. Cliff Downing, a very spry young fellow, got away in good shape and won easily in 2:51 1-4. Lady Russell missed the flag and came second, Russell and Aytanetta being badly left.

The 2:35 pacing race, $500 purse, had seven starters. Good work was expected from Pat Murphy, but his backers kicked each other when he, together with Belle Simmonds, was shut out in the first heat. This was a thoroughly enjoyable race, the horses doing good work on the last half of each heat. Below are the positions and time:

John B., g g, A. D. Carson, Springfield, Mo.	2	1	2	1
Roseburg, br s, J. S. Sanner, Wamago, Kas.	1	5	3	2
Lawnwood, g s, R. E. Jones, Paola, Kas.	4	3	1	4
Maritana, b g, Lew Hinkley, Lyons, Ind.	3	4	3	2
Laredo, b s, John Bostick, Ft. Worth, Tex.	5	2	5	4
Pat Murphy, b g, E. W. Graves, Taylorsville, Ky.	dis.
Belle Simmonds, b m, McCormick L. & S. Co., Bowling Green, Mo.	dis.

The judges were Hon. Walter I. Hayes, of Clinton, Iowa; H. C. Tindall, and J. M. Grant, of Oswego, Kas. The time keepers were Dr. T. E. White and L. L. Ilgenfritz, of this city.

The only awards made Tuesday were in classes "J" and "K" as below:

There was an increase of interest in the attractions at the fairgrounds Wednesday. Most of the awards were made in the different departments which contained the work and products of the farmers and housewives of Pettis county and other parts of the state. The work of making the different awards is one of much difficulty and requires a great deal of patience and time.

The first awards made Wednesday were in class "C," the ladies' textile department, and T. B. Anderson, superintendent. The lady judges were Mesdames T. B. Anderson, R. Wilson Carr, R. Ritter and J. H. Reeves, a most capable and conscientious committee. Below are the results:

Sedalia Democrat.

A TARIFF is a tax and a tax is a burden.

ALL western Missouri will be represented at the grand rally here on the 30th.

THE building boom in Sedalia has kept right along and the business boom is not far behind.

NO GOVERNMENT has the moral right to tax one class of citizens in order to enrich another class.

"STAND up for Missouri" by turning down those who slander the state or damn it with faint praise.

MAJOR WARNER'S lamentations will avail him nothing. Missouri cannot be won by misrepresentation.

THE DEMOCRAT would urge the rigid enforcement of all laws bearing upon the sanitary condition of the city.

THE gallant young editor of the Fayette Democrat comes to the defense of "the girl who wears suspenders."

THE next vice-president of the United States will be with us on the 30th in the person of Gen. Stevenson.

THE grand democratic rally on the 30th will only be eclipsed by the one which will take place on November 8th.

JUDGE GRESHAM is not the only ex-republican leader who will compete for the honor of taking Ben Harrison's scalp.

THE democratic boys are organizing for the big parade. The boys can't vote, but they can hollow as loud as anybody.

THE democrats of Missouri are invited to meet the next vice-president and the next governor in Sedalia on August 30th.

FROM Hannibal to Nevada and from Kansas City to Jefferson City, every town and village will send a delegation to the grand democratic rally.

THE great big rally takes place in Sedalia on August 30th, and thousands of loyal Missourians who are proud of their state will be here to see it.

OUR republican friends who were here on the 27th of July are invited to return on the 30th inst. and witness a real over flow of political enthusiasm.

THE "lamentations of Warner" are being repeated in various parts of Missouri. The exact localities will be indicated by increased democratic votes.

It will be interesting to contrast Hon. W. J. Stone's speech in this city on August 30th with William Warner's lamentations read here on the 27th of July.

MISSOURI republican campaign managers should learn a lesson from the experience of the Kansas rain-makers. There is no use for man to attempt the impossible.

WEAVER says the country is going to ruin and he will be its next president. If the latter statement is true, the DEMOCRAT has no quarrel with the gentleman as to the correctness of the former.

THE republican managers are colonizing southern negroes in Illinois and other doubtful states. There are not enough negroes in the south, however, to make good the republican losses in the north.

If Judge Gresham really stumps Indiana for the third party he will assist materially in cooking Ben Harrison's goose in the Hoosier state. It will give the democrats what the boys call a "dead cinch" on the state.

THE beauty about the big democratic rally on the 30th is that it will not be merely a Cleveland demonstration nor a Stone parade, but an enthusiastic endorsement of the whole democratic ticket from Cleveland to Clopton.

THE democracy of the county should tie ropes to Willie Steele.—Sentinel.

The republicans will have to do that if they expect to hold him back long enough for his opponent to catch up with him in the race for prosecuting attorney.

UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENTS.

The campaign of education goes bravely on in this country, and stubborn facts and cold logic are fast demolishing the barriers of prejudice and false pretenses behind which the protectionist has taken refuge in the past.

Working men especially have learned in the hard school of experience that the laws ostensibly enacted to "protect American labor," were really framed for the purpose of protecting American capital.

The following twenty reasons why protection does not increase wages are given by Congressman Bushnell, of Wisconsin, and they are conclusive and unanswerable.

Every working man should read them and then repeat them to his friends until the heartless fallacy of protection finds no supporters outside of the Carnegies, the Fricks, and other trust beneficiaries.

These are the reasons. Read them:

First. Because to say that wage-earners as a body can increase their wages by paying high tariff taxes, which fall mainly upon them, is to say that a man can increase his wealth by picking his own pocket.

Second. Because the value of wages consists not in money, but in the articles which money buys; and the express object of a high tariff is to make these articles dear, thus decreasing the real reward of labor.

Third. Because the high tariff policy, while taxing the wage-earner upon nearly everything that he has to buy, gives him no protection upon the only thing he has to sell. We have free trade in human labor.

Fourth. Because wages represent the wage-earner's share of what he himself produces, and are high or low according as his production is large or small.

Fifth. Because if a high tariff raises wages at all its first and greatest effect must be in the "protected" industries, whereas the rate of wages is considerably lower in these industries than in the unprotected ones.

Sixth. Because the high rate of wages in the United States is due to other causes than a high tariff, such as the extent of unsettled territory, the natural resources of the country, the extensive use of improved machinery, the intelligence and energy of the working population, and the greater efficiency of their labor.

Seventh. Because at least nine wage-earners out of every ten in this country, are engaged in occupations not subject to the competition of foreign importations, so that the rate of wages which they receive cannot be in any degree dependent on a high tariff.

Eighth. Because the wages of even the one wage-earner out of ten claimed to be "protected" are determined by general causes rather than by the tariff.

Ninth. Because a high tariff upon raw materials raises the cost of manufacturing, restricts the market for goods, and prevents the manufacturer from paying as high wages as he would have to if his material were free.

Tenth. Because the rate of wages increased faster in this country in the low tariff period between 1850 and 1860 than it ever has since under high tariff.

Eleventh. Because wages were high in the United States compared with those paid in other countries before it ever had a high tariff or any tariff.

Twelfth. Because China has enjoyed for thousands of years the full benefits of high tariff "protection," while her wages for skilled labor are 20 cents a day, and Chinese immigration in search of higher wages has become a menace to American wage-earners.

Thirteenth. Because there are greater differences between rates of wages paid in different parts of this country, all subject to the same high tariff, than between rates of wages in Wisconsin and in England.

Fourteenth. Because the rate of wages has increased from 50 to 100 per cent. in England since she abandoned the high tariff policy, and because her wages are to-day from 50 to 100 per cent. higher than in the higher tariff countries of continental Europe.

Fifteenth. Because a high tariff fosters "trusts" and other combinations of capital for raising the price of everything but labor, and destroys that competition for labor between different employers which is the great agency in raising its wages.

Sixteenth. Because if the manufacturer really believed that a high tariff compelled him to pay high wages he would be a low tariff man.

Seventeenth. Because the manufacturer does not raise his rate of wages when he gets a high tariff duty upon his product; the manufacturer who makes large profits out of the tariff can undoubtedly pay high wages, but he does not.

Eighteenth. Because the average amount of wages paid by the protected manufacturer in the production of one dollar's worth of goods is less than 20 cents, while the average tariff tax is 47 cents, leaving 27 cents for the profits of the manufacturer and the extra cost of raw materials due to the tariff.

Nineteenth. Because the theory that a high tariff makes high wages is principally advanced by men who have never shown any sympathy with legislation to promote the welfare of the wage-earner, by the doctrinaire protectionists, political partisans, and manufacturers who have a selfish interest of their own.

Twentieth. Because this theory is opposed by the democratic party, made up principally of wage-earners, and ever seeking to promote their true interests.

THE protected monopolists of this country, says the Detroit Free Press, are not yielding their shekels to the republicans who pass the hat with sufficient liberality to avoid adverse criticism. They paid big figures to secure the passage of the McKinley law because they needed it in their business, but they are not disposed to be blackmailed continuously because of what they have already bought and paid for. They are willing to come down handsomely and plead hypocritically for the poor workingman while so doing, provided they can see good returns. Now, however, there is a handwriting on the wall that troubles their minds and tightens their purse strings. The people of this country will not submit much longer to class taxation and the wealthy beneficiaries of the McKinley act do not care to invest heavily in a losing cause. The next administration will be elected, not purchased.

In an article, which we copy from the St. Louis Republic, Col. Henry Strother makes some suggestions worthy of consideration by every progressive citizen of Missouri. What he says of the good work already done by the horticultural society is true, as is also his suggestion of what might be done with a more liberal appropriation from the state. Missouri ranks high already as a fruit growing state, and interest in the subject will grow with the increase in population and the growth of towns and cities. Col. Strother's article is worthy of a place in every newspaper in the state, and his suggestions should receive the attention of the members of the next general assembly.

MR. SCHWEINFURTH, who, it is stated, contemplates the construction of an inter-state temple on the Iowa-Missouri line, is hereby notified that the scheme will not work so far as Missouri is concerned. This grand old commonwealth approximates sufficiently near to a paradise on earth now without the introduction of any heaven of the Rockford stamp.—Kansas City Star.

And yet the Star is supporting for governor a candidate whose campaign is made upon the theory or assumption that Missouri is almost a wilderness, where ignorance, intolerance and indolence are the chief characteristics of the inhabitants.

It is possible that, if the Missouri farmer were left to tell his own story, says the Kansas City Star, he might, from a certain professional tendency to gloom, make himself out an abject sufferer; but a bank deposit is a matter to which two parties are required, and so the Missouri state board of agriculture has been consulting not the farmer but the other party, the banker. Reports from bankers outside of Kansas City and St. Louis show that 55 per cent of the amount deposited and 60 per cent of the depositors belong to the farmer class. Something over half the money in Missouri banks is farmers' money.

GEN. STEVENSON, the democratic candidate for vice-president, will only make one speech in Missouri, and that will be at the grand rally to be held here on the 30th. This will be the only opportunity Missourians will have to meet him until the inauguration at Washington March 4th, 1893.

HURRAH for the north and south railroad. It is what Sedalia has long desired. The gentlemen in charge of the enterprise are in earnest and with the hearty co-operation of the other communities interested the road can and will be built.

DODGING DEBATE.

When William Warner was nominated for governor by the republicans, it was proudly proclaimed by his admirers that he would sail over Missouri in a whirl-wind of eloquence, and no democrat would dare meet him in joint debate.

But the democrats went ahead, held their convention, chose their standard bearer, and now it seems that it is the erstwhile boastful Warner who grows weary of the prospect of a joint debate.

In speaking of Warner's campaign, the St. Joseph Gazette says: "At the Sedalia meeting he delivered a speech, or, to be more exact, he read an essay fifteen minion columns in length, and forthwith all the republican papers in the state pronounced it the most masterly production of the season. At Trenton, a few days ago, the major was billed for a second installment of eloquence, but it was not forthcoming. He read the same essay inflicted upon the faithful at Sedalia."

So he will go on until November, sawing the air and revamping that same essay. When asked whether he would consent to an engagement with the democratic nominee for a joint canvass of the state, the major declined. An essayist, capable of writing a single essay, and who relies upon it for all purposes, could hardly afford to meet Stone in joint debate, but such an exhibition of the white feather, coupled with the discovery that that Sedalia speech is to do service throughout the campaign, will have a most depressing effect upon those admirers of Maj. Warner who have been taught to regard him as a statesman and orator of the first magnitude."

THE Lafayette county teachers' institute has adopted resolutions condemning the state institute law and asking for its repeal.

OVER at Miami, in Saline county, four former republicans have joined the democratic club. That makes it pretty near unanimous.

FROM present indications there will be at least one thousand Pettis county democrats in the grand parade on the 30th, and half of them will be on horseback.

THE democrats of Central Missouri will give Hon. W. J. Stone such a reception here on the 30th that even the mugwump Kansas City Star will understand that "state issues" are not obscured.

HON. JOHN M. THURSTON, one of the most popular republicans in Nebraska, has bolted Harrison and protection and joined the third party. Nebraska will join Kansas in repudiating republicanism.

BLOOMINGTON democrats have organized a "Stevenson Marching Club" which will take an active part in the campaign. The club has adopted a handsome uniform and is being drilled for street evolutions.

Sweeping Out.

From Texas Siftings.

Fashionable Wife—Did you notice, dear, at the party last evening, how grandly our daughter, Clara, swept into the room?

Husband (with a grunt)—Oh, yes, Clara can sweep into any room grandly enough, but when it comes to sweeping out a room she isn't there.

Serious Charge.

Otto Gheringer was arraigned before Judge Fisher Monday charged with deceiving Minnie Hammond. He waived examination and gave $400 bond to appear before the criminal court.

Will Be Home Soon.

Capt. T. C. Holland received a letter from Hon. John T. Heard to-day in which that gentleman says he will soon return to his home in this city.

The Jaffa & Jerusalem Railroad.

BY EUGENE FIELD.

A tortuous, double iron track; a station here, a station there;
A locomotive, tender, tanks; a coach with stiff reclining chair;
Some postal cars, and baggage too; a vestibule of patent make;
With buffers, duffers, switches and the soughing automatic brake—
This is the Orient's novel pride, and Syria's gaudiest modern gem;
The railway scheme that is to ply 'twixt Jaffa and Jerusalem!

Beware, O sacred muley cow! the engine, when you hear its bell;
Beware, O camel! when resounds the whistle's shrill, unholy swell;
And, native of that guileless land, unused to modern travel snare,
Beware the fiend that peddles books—the awful peanut boy beware!
Else, trusting in their specious arts, you may have reason to condemn
The traffic which the knavish ply 'twixt Jaffa and Jerusalem!

And when, ah! when the bonds fall due, how passing words will wax the state—
From Neb's Mount to Nazareth will spread the cry, "Repudiate!"
From Hebron to Tiberias, from Jordan's banks unto the sea,
Will rise profane anathemas against "that—monopoly!"
And F. M. B. A. shepherd-folk, with Sockless Jerry leading them,
Will swamp that corporation line 'twixt Jaffa and Jerusalem!

TALK WITH McCORD.

He Declines to Talk of His Crime, But Promises to Write a Story

Through the kindness of Sheriff Hornbeck and Deputy Rymel, says the Boonville Star, we were accorded the privilege of an interview with J. H. McCord, the Sedalia murderer, confined in our jail here now. His trial comes up at our next term of court in October.

McCord has rather a pleasing face and does not look like one guilty of the crime with which he is charged.

When called upon by a Star representative yesterday he declined to make any statements regarding his case, but talked freely and with much interest on other subjects. He is an iron moulder by trade and beguiles the lagging hours by moulding plaster of paris into various shapes. Some miniature animals of these are on exhibition at Dan's drug store.

He asked to be excused for not in any way referring to his crime, and said that he had so often been misrepresented and abused by newspaper reporters that his attorneys had forbidden him making any further statements. In parting he promised at some future time to write a story for the Star.

TO SAVE HIS FATHER.

A Boy of Eighteen Kills a Neighbor in the Act of Assault.

MEXICO, Mo., Aug. 15.—Ernest Humphrey, aged 18 years, killed Elmer Kerr Sunday afternoon near Santa Fe, Monroe county, 14 miles north of this city. Ernest's father James Humphrey, owns a farm and there had been a saw mill on the place. The mill lately had been sold and James Humphrey ordered the parties who owned lumber to move it off. J. R. Shell, of this county, had bought the slabs and went over to haul them off and wanted to go through Humphrey's field to escape a hill. Humphrey refused and Shell went away saying he would send a man who would go through. He got Elmer Kerr. In attempting to force his way through the farm Kerr and the elder Humphrey got into a fight. Kerr knocked the old man down and was holding him and getting his pistol. Young Humphrey had a small gun of 22 caliber in his hand, and, thinking his father would be killed, fired it at Kerr, the ball taking effect just behind the ear, killing him instantly. Kerr was a powerfully built man, about 25 years old and weighing about 250 pounds. Both the Humphreys are under arrest.

HIS VIEW OF IT.

How Could She Want the Earth When She Had Him.

They hadn't been married very long, judging from the tenacity with which she clung to his arm as they were walking down State street last night, but he had probably forgotten the sweet words and promises which he had once whispered in her ear, and was as cross as a bear, says the Chicago Globe.

In a timid and pleading voice she finally said: "John, wont you take me to the dime museum?"

"Naw, what do you want to go there for? It ain't no account."

She swallowed the lump which rose in her throat and walked on silently. After awhile she summoned up courage again and said: "Can't we have some lemonade?"

"What do you want to drink that stuff for? Ain't water good enough?"

With glistening eyes she said with a touch of reproach: "Before we were married, John, you made so many promises of what you would give me."

"Well, you've got me. What more do you want? The earth?"

THE BIG RALLY.

IT WILL BE THE LARGEST OF THE YEAR.

All of Missouri Interested in Giving the Next Vice-President a Rousing Reception.

The positive statement that Gen. Stevenson, the democratic candidate for vice-president, will be here on the 30th, and that he will only make the one speech in this state, has created wide-spread interest in the grand rally that is to be held here on the 30th.

Already central Missouri had decided to rally here and give Hon. W. J. Stone, democracy's candidate for governor, a rousing reception. But when the news went forth that with him that sturdy Jacksonian democrat whose character Missourians so much admire, would be here at the same time, interest was greatly increased and letters and messages received already indicate that the attendance will be larger than has ever been seen at a political meeting in Missouri.

The railroad companies will give reduced rates to all attending the rally, and many special trains will be chartered on terms that will make very low rates.

Democratic clubs are taking the matter up. Clinton promises to send four hundred; Nevada, the home of Col. Stone, will all be here—that is all the working democrats; Carthage and Webb City will send large delegations; Holden and Pleasant Hill will send a train load; Hannibal, Moberly, Paris, Monroe City, Fayette, Boonville and other towns on the M., K. & T. will be represented by special trains, as also will Marshall and other towns on the Jefferson City & Lexington division; Kansas City and St. Louis will also send special trains.

But by far the largest turnout will be from the various townships of this and adjoining counties who promise to come by the thousand. Hundreds of the enthusiastic young democrats will come on horseback and with bands and banners will make an imposing spectacle.

The various committees are hard at work and fully understand the work in hand. All Missouri is being invited to come and rejoice with us.

THE BARREL AND BOX FACTORY

A Communication From Ottumwa, Iowa, Gives a Most Encouraging Outlook for Sedalia.

About a week ago the Kerr Barrel and Box Works of Ottumwa, Iowa, took fire and was totally destroyed. The plant was valued at $60,000, with an insurance of $30,000. The business employed 260 men and the output at the time of the fire was far below the demand. The plant has been in operation only since last fall. At that time, and prior to its construction, an effort was made to bring this desirable industry to Sedalia, F. J. Moss, secretary and manager of the company, came to this city and was met by members of the Commercial club, who did their utmost to secure the location of the plant in Sedalia. Mr. Moss was more than favorably impressed with the location and the many facilities to be found. There is an unlimited supply of desirable timber, and this one thing alone was a strong inducement in our favor. The timber used is ash, elm and sycamore, a kind that is of little value for other purposes, but quite the thing for barrels and boxes.

When news of the recent fire reached Sedalia, one of our most prominent young business men immediately wrote to Mr. Moss and renewed Sedalia's claims. A letter was received from that gentleman yesterday that is certainly encouraging. A proposition was made that was brought before the Commercial club this afternoon. Mr. Moss states that two other cities are competing for the factory but adds that he favors Sedalia.

Here is another manufactory knocking at our doors. It can be secured by hustling and the members of the Commercial club should get out and hustle.

Deaths.

WINFREY—The infant child of J. A. Winfrey and wife, died on Saturday evening of bowel complaint. The burial services were held six miles north of Lamonte.

VAUGH—Landy Vaughn died eight miles southeast of this city at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, aged 21 days.

BLAKEMORE—Jas. A. Blakemore, one of the oldest citizens of Sedalia, died at noon Monday. Deceased was about 60 years of age and has resided in Sedalia since it was a town.

GEN. STEVENSON.

CANDIDATE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT TO BE HERE.

He is Visited at His Bloomington Home by Hon. George P. B. Jackson and Maj. Salmon.

Hon. Geo. P. B. Jackson, who in company with Major Harvey Salmon, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, visited General Adlai E. Stevenson at his home in Bloomington, Illinois, yesterday, returned home this morning highly elated over the success that attended his mission.

Mr. Jackson was seen at his law office by a DEMOCRAT reporter Friday and full details of the visit were obtained from the gentleman. He said:

"A few days ago, on learning that Gen. Stevenson would be at his home, I put myself in communication with Major Salmon with a view to visit the candidate for the vice-presidency and thus in a personal conference urge upon him the importance of visiting Missouri on the occasion of the state rally to be held in Sedalia on the 30th of August. Not only would we, by this means, be enabled to represent things more satisfactorily but we hoped that our presence would add effect to the invitation.

Maj. Salmon was not slow to appreciate this and having agreed to visit the general we accordingly wired him of our intention, advising him as to the time we might be expected.

We reached Bloomington at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and spent an hour with the famous statesman. Our visit proved eminently successful, for General Stevenson consented, unconditionally, to be with us in Sedalia on the 30th."

"Will he visit any other point in this state?"

"No, sir; he told us that it would be out of the question for him to be elsewhere in Missouri than Sedalia, adding that but for the fact that there were thirty-one days in the present month he could not come here. He begins an engagement in Indiana September 1st, two days later, and will speak first at Vincennes. You see it is only by the merest sort of accident that we got him to come at all."

Mr. Jackson said he never met anyone to whom the expression "a man of the people" could be more fitly applied. "Indeed," said Mr. Jackson, "had it not been that we knew his identity, we would have taken him for a private individual. He is so simple in his manner, so unpretentious, so void of those qualities peculiar to men of his station in life, which are calculated to check approach on the part of the people. Easy of address, modest and unassuming, and possessing plain, every-day courtesy, one feels perfectly at home in his presence. Stevenson is familiar but by no means vulgar," as Shakespeare puts it.

A little incident connected with the visit but goes to show the simplicity of the general's manner of life—the fact of his walking to the depot, unattended, to meet his two guests. Mr. Jackson said that after they had talked about an hour and finished their business, it was learned that they would have about a half hour before train time (they remained at the depot to economize time, having less than two hours to transact their business); whereupon Gen. Stevenson insisted that they visit his law office and meet his partner, which they did.

Returning to the depot a few minutes later preparatory to departing for Chicago, Mr. Jackson said a ludicrous incident illustrative of the man's popularity even among the colored people occurred.

He and Major Salmon were driven back in a carriage by a venerable son of Ham. En route to the station Major Salmon quizzically asked if he was acquainted with General Stevenson—"Lord a mercy, boss"—began the Afro-American driver with naive astonishment, "I've known dat ar man for a life time."

"Well then," continued the major, "illegally concealing his amusement at the darkey's earnestness, 'I suppose you will vote for him, won't you?'"

"Now, you jist hush, boss," rejoined he; "ob co'se I is, and so'e all de odder culled men in des heres diggins."

Died at Nevada.

Mrs. Fannie A. Hudson, wife of Mr. D. Hudson, living in the Beaman neighborhood, died at Nevada

Fri day morning at 10 o'clock. The husband accompanied the remains to Sedalia Saturday. Mrs. Hudson had been confined in the asylum at Nevada since December last.

HUGGED THE HANGED MAN.

An Extraordinary Scene at a Soldier's Reunion in Vernon County.

A dispatch from Nevada says the four days' reunion of the Vernon county soldiers at Fairhaven ended on the 12th.

It was a success from the start. On the last day fully 5,000 people were on the grounds. The following officers were elected: George M. Jones, (re-elected) commander; A. J. Jarvis, (re-elected) vice-president; G. M. McLain, (re-elected) officer of the day; Ben Parker, quartermaster; John Ulrich, treasurer; J. H. Loyd, adjutant; Luther McLain, drum major; Fred Foster, fife major. The sham battle was fought on the last day with over 200 men participating. It was witnessed by fully 5,000 people.

In the afternoon a big showman who had his show at Shell City, drove out his circus band and asked permission to come into the grounds. It was accorded him, and after favoring the crowd with some music, he took the speaker's stand and made a fine speech. He said he was an ex-Union spy, and among other incidents of his perilous career as such he told about having been captured by the enemy eight miles below Richmond. He was hanged by them, but, fortunately, a Confederate Major came up and ordered him to be cut down. He still bears the scars of the wounds made by the rope and exhibited them to the crowd. He stated that the Confederate Major, whose name was Crittenden, was accompanied by a private, who cut the rope at the Major's orders, and that this private took charge of him and had him in a swamp, where he lived on frogs till he got back into the Union lines.

He had no sooner made this statement than "Uncle Dick" Robinson sprang upon the stand and seized the speaker's hands. It transpired that Uncle Dick was the man who had cut the rope, and the way those two men fell upon each other brought tears to every eye that witnessed the scene. Of course that showman and Uncle Dick were the heroes of the hour.

An organization of the Grand Army posts of Vernon, St. Clair and Bates counties was effected. It is expected that the posts of all the counties in the Fifteenth congressional district will be added.

During the encampment the Hon. Chas. H. Morgan, of Barton county, democratic candidate for congress in the Fifteenth district, delivered an address to the old soldiers, which was warmly received.

DRANK WITH HIM.

How a Slick Baltimorean Outwitted a Professional Bum.

From the Baltimore Herald.

A well known Baltimorean was standing at the corner of Charles and Lexington the other day, when he was accosted by a seedy looking individual, who said:

"May I have a few words with you, sir?"

"You may, but if you want anything I have no money to give you."

"I don't want any money; I'm a mechanic, but have been out of work for over nine weeks and my wife and children are suffering. I want you to give me an order on some grocer for a pound of meat and a loaf of bread."

"If that's the case," said the gentleman "here's a quarter."

The stranger accepted the coin with thanks and moved rapidly down Lexington street. Having nothing to do, the donor thought he would follow his coin and see what became of it. The stranger led the way to a saloon on Calvert street and entered without realizing that he was shadowed. He was about to swallow a glass of whiskey, when his benefactor remarked:

"I'll drink with you."

The look of amazement on that bum's face was a caution, but he quickly recovered and together they finished the quarter over the bar.

A Fine Place.

"The Diamond" saloon is located at 115 West Second street and Mr. Tessler will be glad to see all his old friends. He has a fine lot of cigars and some of the finest brands of wines and liquors to be found in the market.

Afraid She Might Miss Something.

From the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"How did that horrid old Miss Quizzer come to be such an expert in swimming?"

"She was afraid the wild waves might say something that she would miss so she put in her time that way."

FRUIT GROWING.

HOW IT MAY BE ENCOURAGED IN MISSOURI.

A Sedalian Advances Some Ideas on This Subject Worthy of Consideration.

From the Republic.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 6.—The thirty-fourth annual report of the State Horticultural society of Missouri has been received, and, like the eight preceding reports edited by Mr. L. A. Goodman, of Westport, Mo., secretary of this society, is of extreme value to the fruit-growers and farmers generally of this state, and should be carefully studied by them and then placed in their libraries and zealously guarded for future reference and for the benefit of their children. Great would be the results if the people of our state would only study these reports and plant and care for their orchards and fruits as therein directed and advised. The State Horticultural society is composed of not only the best men in Missouri, but also of the best posted, most scientific and most successful horticulturists in the west. They are men who prepare themselves for their profession by hard and close study and research just as the successful lawyer, doctor, preacher, artist and scientists do, but wholly unlike these professions, the great big, hearted, brainy successful fruitgrowers give their knowledge, experience and advice to all freely. On this I will quote a few lines from Secretary Goodman (Thirty-fourth Hort. Rep., p. 110): "How many of us give out facts of our profession which have cost us months of labor and many dollars of money to prove for the mere asking. Can you point to any other profession which will begin to do as we do? The other day a certain lawyer in Kansas City asked me questions about planting an orchard which were worth thousands of dollars to him and yet he never once thought of paying for any of it. The same lawyer charged me $5 for writing a contract."

The members of this society are not only giving so much away, but they are the most unselfish men in the world, for they beseech their neighbors, friends and foes, and beg of the entire agricultural population of the state to plant more trees, more apple trees and fruit trees of all kinds. This has been the constant theme of this society since its organization in 1859. That veteran horticulturist, Norman J. Colman, is the father of this society, and he still takes a lively interest in its welfare. To enumerate the benefits of this society to the state at large, and give the names of the prominent horticulturists who have been its leading members, and show the results of their work, would require a volume.

When it is considered that the value of the fruit crop of the state has steadily increased year by year from a very insignificant amount in 1859 to the enormous sum of over $10,000,000 in 1890, and nearly $20,000,000 in 1891, and the business has grown from the embryo state to full-grown, full-fledged science—a learned profession—all the direct results of the labors of this society, should not everyone who has the best interests of his state at heart do everything in his power to help the good work along?

The crop of this year will not exceed one-half that sum. Why this great falling off? Those who are not deep learned in this science say the climate or season is entirely responsible for this loss of $10,000,000 to our state in one year, but those at the top of the profession know better—they know the secret of success in most seasons, and are constantly studying and experimenting to learn how to overcome the most extreme climatic influences and the bad seasons, and will one day be masters of the situation, and, with the exception of the most extreme seasons, be able to produce each year a regular even crop of the choicest fruits.

The annual destruction by insects and fungi of the fruits of the state reaches from 25 to 50 per cent of the entire crop. The ordinary farmer who is not thoroughly posted in these matters receives from one-acre apple orchard from nothing to $100 per year, while the enlightened, wide-awake horticulturist receives from his acre from $100 to $500 per year. The same is true of other fruits, and the want of success from lack of knowledge causes a loss to the state of millions of dollars annually. How can this be remedied? I offer the following suggestions to the careful consideration of all Missourians:

Have the state annually place to the credit of the state horticultural society the sum of $10,000, the society to employ a good man and require him to go into each county of the state and organize horticultural societies, hold institutes and meetings and instruct the people in the art of horticulture and teach them the true science of fruit-growing. The secretary should issue bulletins to the farmers and members of all horticultural societies in the state, giving them fresh instructions, new remedies and discoveries just at the time they most need it. The present plan of issuing only the annual reports, while of wonderful benefit, is entirely too slow. By the present slow process of the state printing office these reports are not printed in time to be of great benefit until the second year after the discoveries, remedies, advice, etc., therein treated were made. I would not for one moment think of doing away with these annual reports, but I would put them in the hands of printers who could get them out by the first of March of each year. Instead of 3,500 copies, as now published, I would have at least 10,000, all bound in cloth. In this itinerant work give the secretary one or more assistants, one of whom should be an entomologist, who should furnish the secretary with entomological notes for the bulletins, and an annual report to be published in the annual reports of the Horticultural society, and also in the annual reports of the state board of agriculture. The cash income of the Horticultural society from membership fees, and the surplus, if any, of the state appropriation might be used by the society for premiums at their annual and semi-annual meetings and state fairs. Space forbids further detail—now for results. Keep this work up, and at the end of ten years the annual fruit crop of this state will be $50,000,000 instead of $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, as at present. The outlay by the state of $10,000 per annum would amount to $100,000 in 10 years, and the net income for the tenth year would be at least $30,000,000, and for the 10 years could be safely put at $100,000,000. How long would you have to talk to a business man to get him to invest $100,000 and receive in return $100,000,000?

This is not all! The benefits of this work would not stop here, but go on blessing the generations to come until the "wreck of nations and crash of worlds." This is not fancy or a idle dream, but sober facts. How shall this appropriation be gotten? By the horticulturists turning their special attention to the members of the legislature in a systematic way; by those in each county holding stated meetings and having a standing committee whose duty shall be to escort the representative and senator to each of these meetings, and then enlighten and educate these lawmakers by showing them what the society has done in its cramped and crippled condition. Show them its needs and the great and lasting benefits to be received in return for the small allowance of $10,000 per annum. Loan them the last three or half dozen copies of the reports of the society, and ask them to first read and reread each one of Secretary Goodman's reports, next the discussions, resolutions and able articles contained therein, in the order named. Then get them to join the society and promise to vote for the appropriation of $10,000 as above set forth. Write articles to your country papers on this subject and get them to publish choice articles from the annual reports bearing on the subject. By a united and systematic effort on this line, in the language of Sam Jones, you will "get there."

Members of the horticultural society of Missouri, this is the way to get the appropriation, and farmers and citizens of Missouri, it will be the best investment you ever made, and will put grand old Missouri where she should be, the first fruit state in the union.

Case Dismissed.

The case of Allie Roberts, a Western Union messenger, who was charged with collecting and failing to make a return of 50 cents on a message delivered to John W. Brown several weeks ago, was dismissed in Justice Levens' court Saturday. His youth was the consideration, as there were a number of witnesses who would testify to his having been paid the money.

OBSERVATIONS.

BY PETRUCHIO.

MY PRAYER.

My prayer! oh, that I knew to pray In spirit as becomes a child of God; A child who, in wayward form of life, Grieves the goodness of a God all good. Humble, stricken by my many sins, Unworthy of so much of love, With pain and sorrow in my heart, I come With bended head, and sad, repentant mien; I come and ask Him that He may renew Within my soul that strong desire to serve Him.

I pray that I may have a cleansed heart, A new resolve, a purer longing for the good; I pray that something in my life may show That glory of my blessed Master's cause. I pray that I may be by His good will The instrument of working some small good below.

Aristocracy.

Occasionally I meet a man of education, refinement and culture, who has attained station and wealth, and who does not hesitate to speak of the days of early poverty and the attendant conditions of rustic simplicity and modest belongings. These men do not confound opulence with aristocracy, wealth with blue blood, power with nobility of character.

I believe in aristocracy, but not in the aristocracy of dollars. I despise snobs, but I do believe Dickens never wrote a clearer truth than when he painted American snobbery as the most abject, mean and inconsistent to be found upon the face of the earth. I can't say I have a contempt for an honest toad-eater who is a toad-eater for the love of toad-eating, and who pretends to be nothing more than a toad-eater. But for an American who boasts of his independence and his virtue, his freedom and his intelligence, to bow down to the golden calf gives me a pain—no, not a pain, but a nausea—which unfits me for the ordinary duties of life.

But to return to the aristocracy. There is a gentle, unostentatious simplicity about the real aristocrat that heralds the noble, whatever station it may be found in. The mean, spurious counterfeit betrays himself by his very jealousy of the position he essays to occupy. He is in constant mortal terror lest some one will suspect he is no aristocrat, but an impostor. The inferior is constantly reminded of the gulf between their stations, lest it will not otherwise be seen. Indignities are heaped upon the dependant, lest otherwise said dependant might not recognize superior station. Oh, what a sham is the name of aristocracy! what a travesty upon real nobility.

Does the menial who knows not by my action that I am out of his station feel less respect for me? Will sitting at table with a mental, moral or spiritual inferior give me less respect than it would with a physical inferior? Will kindness and consideration demean me in the eyes of any one, great or humble? Surely not, and I can but doubt the purity of blood which fears to trust itself without an assumption manifested by material show of authority, power, superiority.

Yes, I love an aristocrat—an honest, simple, loving, considerate aristocrat, who proves genuineness of the stamp by never betraying the least consciousness that being an aristocrat is a responsibility that requires constant guard and watch. The blooded horse proves not its pedigree by biting and kicking its kind, but by superior pace, carriage and style. And a blooded man is much the same, and his pace will show his breeding, whether 'tis displayed in the quiet paths of rural surroundings or on kite tracks and thoroughfares hedged in by gold and cold formalities, where all the world flocks to watch the equipages of the great.

Out of His Sight.

From Puck.

He was cantankerous that morning, and taking it out on his pretty typewriter.

"Everything is in confusion on this desk," he said, testily.

"It always is," she responded meekly. "You insist you don't want anything disturbed there."

"Well, I don't want any papers disturbed, but I don't want this sheet of postage stamps left here."

"Where shall I put them?" she inquired demurely, as she took them up.

"Don't ask so many questions!" he snapped. "Put them anywhere out of my sight."

"Very well, sir," she cooed as softly as a dove; and giving them a swipe, fore and aft, with her pretty red tongue, she struck the sheet on his bald head, and walked out to chase a new job.

A Bold Robber.

About 9 o'clock Saturday night, a white man whose face was masked with a handkerchief, entered the grocery store of Chas. Gottscholk, No. 811 West Main, and attempted to rob the store. He grabbed the cash box, but threw it away when he found it was empty. He then approached Miss Minnie Gottscholk, the only person in the store, and asked where the money was kept. At this juncture her sister, Miss Maude, came in and both ladies began to scream in a way that made the fellow take to his heels, not however until he had drawn a pistol and endeavored to quiet them.

A NEW ROAD.

SEDALIA TO HAVE AN OUTLET NORTH AND SOUTH.

The Springfield, Sedalia, Marshall and Northern Submits Proposals—New Directors.

The project for a north and south railroad contemplates a trunk line from the Lakes to the Gulf, and the Springfield, Sedalia, Marshall & Northern, is a most important link in the chain.

Capitalists of Sedalia, Springfield, Marshall and Miami have for months been working at the enterprise. They had a survey made which showed that the road could be constructed at a moderate cost and that the resources of the country through which it passed would make it a paying line from the start.

Col. O. A. Crandall, the president of the proposed road, in company with others who are interested, visited Springfield Thursday, having become convinced that the time to begin active operations had arrived.

A mass-meeting was held in Springfield Fri. night at which Col. Crandall and others explained the plans and purposes of the company and the great advantage the road would be to Springfield.

Col. Crandall returned to his home in this city to-day and was seen by a DEMOCRAT reporter this afternoon.

"At the meeting held Fri. night," said Col. Crandall, a proposition was agreed upon by the board to construct the road from Miami to Springfield provided the people along the road grant the right-of-way and raise $280,000, distributed among the several counties as follows:

Green county, $100,000; Dallas, $25,000; Hickory, $15,000; Benton, $20,000; Pettis, $60,000, and Saline, $60,000.

The colonel furthermore stated that arrangements for entrance into Springfield and a depot site thereat had been perfected.

"As to the likelihood of constructing the road, I think there is room for but very little doubt," said he.

"I have had expressions from the representative citizens from each of the several counties most interested and all are heartily in favor of the project. Meetings to consider the proposition submitted the several counties will be called at once."

A new board of directors was chosen Fri. night and Col. Crandall was elected president.

Nelson's Condition.

Merritt Nelson, brother of Hiram Nelson, an account of whose misfortune last Wednesday was published in the DEMOCRAT, received injuries more serious than at first reported. It will be remembered that while threshing near Lamonte, he got tangled in the machine.

Not only did an examination reveal the fact that his right arm was so badly mangled as to render amputation not improbable, but his tongue was slit, his scalp and neck cut and other injuries were received. It is said that his escape from death is almost miraculous.

A Fine Boy.

P. D. Hastain has his own politics aside for a while and is smiling from ear to ear. Mrs. Hastain presented him this morning with a handsome 9-pound boy. The father is busy receiving the congratulations of friends.

At Hymen's Altar.

Probate Judge Hoy married the following to-day: Geo. English and Sallie Sinet, both of Lamonte; Joseph Goodley and Kate Houston, both of Hughesville.

Very Wild Pets.

Grant Menefee, the well-known fireman, is the owner of two very wild and wooly pets, two young wild cats. They were captured by a trapper in the bluffs near Chamois, Mo. Grant paid $10 for the pair and says that they can "lick" all the dogs in town quicker than greased lightning.

THE camp-meeting at Forrest park will be under full headway as soon as the fair excitement is ended.

Just after the fair comes the camp-meeting, and then the big democratic rally. Sedalia is "in it" this month.

If the mugwump Star was sincere in its support of Cleveland it would cease sneering at Hill at least until after the election.

THE north and south railroad would be worth millions to Sedalia and sixty thousand dollars is a small sum to invest in it.

THE Kansas City Star is not "keeping in the middle of the road," but is doing its best to straddle the barbed wire fence of partisan politics.

GOVERNOR BUCHANAN has announced that he will be an independent candidate for governor of Tennessee. He has been one of the most unpopular officials the state ever had.

COL. BOYD, of Pettis, secured the senatorial nomination at Marshall Monday. The republicans hoped by taking up Mr. Houston that the third party could be wheedled into endorsing him.

THE DEMOCRAT is glad to see the democrats of Pettis county organizing for the political battle that ends November 8th. By a little systematic work the party majority can be materially increased.

THE big rally here on the 30th will be the real opening of the state campaign. Hon. W. J. Stone will stand up for Missouri in the good, old, sincere, democratic way and Gen. Stevenson will discuss national issues.

THE cattle feeders in the vicinity of Slater are shipping in cotton seed meal by the car load and say it is cheaper feed than corn at $2 per barrel. Just think of it, shipping cattle feed to Missouri from the south.

MESSRS. HASTAIN and Pinkham are going to have a right lively contest for second place in the three-cornered congressional race, but neither of them will be in hailing distance of Mr. Heard when he goes under the wire a winner as usual.

THE St. Louis Chronicle thinks the third party is going to cut a wide swath in Missouri politics this fall. All of which goes to show that the Chronicle keeps constantly in the "middle of the road" without being able to see what is going on on either side.

THE Kansas City Star should remember that in no sense is Mr. Warner's record any better than that of President Harrison. Neither is the record of Mr. Cleveland any better than that of Mr. Stone. If Cleveland carries Missouri Stone will be the next governor.

THE Butler Union thinks Mr. Leonard has a better chance to be governor than either Col. Stone or Maj. Warner. The DEMOCRAT cannot think so, but is ready to admit that Leonard's chance is as good as Warner's. There is no difference in impossibilities.

THE progressive citizens of Sedalia should take hold of the proposition of the managers of the Springfield, Sedalia, Marshall & Northern railroad at once. Let Pettis be the first county to raise the amount required and thus encourage sister counties to push the matter. The few thousands asked for will bring Pettis county millions of dollars in a few years.

NEGRO FISHING CLUBS.

The negro voters in Springfield are tired of the treatment they have received at the hands of the republican managers, and a revolt is in progress.

Two years ago the colored voters concluded that it was necessary to give the white managers a lesson; accordingly they organized a "fishing club," the members of which failed to vote, thus defeating Wade for congress.

This year they expected better treatment than they had received before, but again they were disappointed, and now the revolt is worse than before, and large numbers of the negroes will refuse to vote the republican ticket.

Not alone is this true of Springfield. The revolt is in progress all over this and other states.

The negro has learned a lesson that he will profit by, and that is that no favors will be given him as long as he is the political slave of a gang of office seekers. He must make the best of his situation, and in politics as well as in business lookout for his own interest.

In many cities and counties where the negro has it in his power to defeat those who have deceived him so long and so cruelly, that power will be used this fall, and "fishing clubs" will be more popular than they have ever been before.

THE Gazette evidently expects to see the democratic rally far surpass the republican demonstration and is already sore and ungentlemanly about it. Such suggestions as a "dummy covered with moss from the jungles of Flat creek in imitation of the average Missouri moss-back." And that the Younger boys "would be here to meet 'Gen.' Stevenson were it not that business detains them in Minnesota" are but evidences of the Gazette's painful expectations and a manifestation of its real opinions of democrats. The rally will be held, however, without the help of either convicts, dummies or the Gazette. At the same time it is interesting to the intelligent democrats of Sedalia to know just who the talented editor of the Gazette thinks should take part in the rally.

THE Gazette is doubtless aware that the republican Bald Knobbers now in the Missouri penitentiary belonged to an organization that committed crimes that would have shamed any member of the Younger boys' gang, and yet no one thought of coupling the names of these criminals with that of Warner at the republican rally. No one with any idea of decency will stoop to the infamy of offering such insults to honorable men of any political party. Sensible people know that there are good men and bad men in all political parties. Neither the Younger boys nor the Bald Knobbers, however, have shown the total depravity that the Gazette has given evidence of during the last twelve months.

SOME of the World's Fair directors are credited with saying that Congressman Blackburn, having opposed the appropriation, should resign as orator at the opening of the fair. If he had allowed his connection with the fair to have influenced his vote he should resign as congressman. But as he did his duty like a man he can get along without the World's Fair just as well as the World's Fair can without him. A request to him to resign for the reason indicated would, however, materially reduce the attendance and force the speculators to go to congress for another appropriation.

THE Gazette, our bloody shirt contemporary, says: "Every confederate in Missouri who fought for the stars and bars ought to be here on the 30th to welcome 'General' Stevenson." So they ought. These old confederates are brave fellows; they fought four years in defense of their opinions and now there are no better citizens in the United States than they. Sedalians will give the old confederate soldiers, as well as the old federal soldiers, a cordial welcome whenever they come within her gates. This welcome is as cordial from federal to confederate, and from confederate to federal, as it is among those who wore the same uniform, and outside of the Gazette office there is not a man in Sedalia who is not glad to meet these old confederates anywhere and any time.

GEN. Stevenson will think all Missourians are democrats when he sees the grand rally here on the 30th.

CLINTON promises to send four hundred democrats to the grand rally and Windsor proposes to furnish as large a delegation.

PETTIS county democrats are getting together and fixing up for the grand rally on the 30th and the big victory on November 8th.

FIVE hundred of Gov. Stone's old neighbors and friends are going to come up to the rally with him and tell the people from all over the state what manner of man he is.

THE Gazette has already begun to wave the bloody shirt at the very mention of the democratic rally. The Gazette, however, does not express the sentiments of the decent, respectable element of the republican party.

A BITTER fight is in progress between the rival democratic factions in Texas. If this thing is not stopped the party majority may be reduced below one hundred thousand, to the everlasting shame and regret of the Lone Star state.

AN "alliance" to reform political methods in St. Louis is reported. Unquestionably some missionary work is needed in the ranks of both parties in the "Future Great," but the question naturally arises, who is going to reform the reformers?

THE Chronicle calls attention to the fact that Truett Polk is the only man whom Missourians have honored with a high office after electing him governor. The reason is plain enough, to be governor of grand old Missouri is honor enough for one man.

If Sedalia really wants to encourage manufacturing enterprises, she should invest a few thousand dollars in the north and south railroad. That road will give the Queen City cheap transportation north and south and increase its facilities for trade of all kinds.

WHAT is pronounced to have been a genuine case of Asiatic cholera occurred at Stillwater, Minnesota Monday. While it is probable that it was not cholera in its epidemic form, still such cases should cause health officers all over the country to rigidly enforce sanitary laws.

If the Buffalo strikers really are responsible for the outrages reported in the way of ditching trains and incendiarism, says the Detroit Free Press, they have taken a sure method to injure their cause. No strike ever succeeded in this country without enlisting some measure of popular sympathy; and actions like those referred to effectually alienate such sympathy.

SEDALIA has been pretty thoroughly advertised this summer. The various conventions—political, religious and those of fraternal orders—and the biggest republican demonstration ever seen in the state, have brought to the Queen City thousands who never saw her glories before. Then comes the democratic rally which will eclipse all former demonstrations and bring to Sedalia the largest crowd that has ever been congregated in Central Missouri. The Queen City is "in it" this year.

THE bloody conflicts between capital and labor are becoming so common as to call attention to a condition that if not changed may at any time bring serious trouble upon the country. At Homestead, at Buffalo, in the Idaho mines, and among the Tennessee miners, the ill-feeling which resulted in violence and bloodshed was but the evidence of a disease which it should be the aim of our ablest statesmen to cure. There should be no class antagonism in this country and there will be none when class favoritism ceases.

MAJ. WARNER may discover that some other state produces more coal than Missouri, but heralding such a fact to the four winds is not recognized in this part of Missouri as standing up for her, says the Carthage Democrat. Every honest Missourian knows that it is not so much in the number of products in which Missouri leads as it is the grand excellence of all her products that make a list the most diversified of which any state in the union can boast. In other words Missouri leads not so much in the production of any one article as she does in the production of almost everything found in all the states of the union.

WARNER AND MISSOURI.

If the opponents of William J. Stone expect to accomplish anything by loud talk and vilification of Missouri they are reminded that their tactics up to date have been so puerile and weak as to be thoroughly ridiculous to all thinking men, regardless of party affiliations, says the St. Joseph Gazette. People are weary of prattle about a "New Missouri." It does not pan out. From the hour of his nomination the stock in trade of Warner has consisted of bombastic, yet vague insinuations that in some mysterious way he would mould and shape the state into a new Arcady. The moving and central figure of this revolution is always held up to view as Warner. Indeed, the major's own estimation of his miraculous powers is so great as to strain the faith of believers in fairies, patrons of soothsayers and devotees of witchcraft.

With the artfulness of a juggler he does not disclose how and why the people of the state will be benefited. He is content to send up a calamity howl of defamation of its present condition and chirp sweetly about the Eden that will be ushered in with Maj. Warner in the gubernatorial chair.

The doleful assertions in regard to the material condition of this state are every one without foundation and will not bear inspection. The state's history of the past twenty years is a history of progress and development. The worst drawback she has ever had to confront is the blatant mouthings of republican calumniators of the Warner stripe.

If such an event as the election of Maj. Warner were possible how can he bring about the "era of prosperity?" He will face a majority opposition in the legislature. He will not be able to do anything beyond the appointment of police commissioners and recorders of voters in the large cities. Experienced Rodmanites who would look to the interests of Warner as an object and the good of the people as an incident would fill these offices. Major Warner has already sidetracked the national republican ticket to further his own vantage ground and the state ticket will likewise be knifed. The truth is Warner represents Warner and Warner interests. The good of the state is of importance only as it serves that end. The "New Missouri" is the Missouri of 1868.

THE table recently issued by Labor Commissioner Hall giving the amount received by each county for its surplus productions sold, is misleading unless the fact of large cities, whose inhabitants are largely engaged in the professions, transportation and trade and therefore consumers of agricultural products, is given. Take Lafayette and Jackson as instances. The former, a purely agricultural and coal mining county, shows a surplus of $114.27 per capita, while the latter with more than five times the population shows only $14.56 per capita—Kansas City consuming the products of her farmers. To make the table at all valuable for purposes of comparison, the number of persons engaged in different pursuits should be given.

If republican rule is such a good thing, how is it that "bleeding Kansas" has become so deeply in debt that her liabilities, in one form or the other, are nearly double her assessed valuation?

A GOOD, loyal republican named C. M. Pirner, of Lexington, Mo., has just learned that the tariff is a tax and that the foreigner does not pay it. He sent to Germany for a hammerless rifle. When the bill reached him at Lexington it read this way: "To rifle, $18.50; custom house duty, $4.25; total, $22.75." Mr. Pirner, and not the foreigner, paid it, and he no longer believes in high tariff doctrine.

EVERYBODY is anxious to hear Gen. Stevenson on the 30th.

MISSOURI can make no better investment than in good roads. Talk up such improvements.

LEXINGTON has organized a flambeau club to participate in the democratic rally here on the 30th.

FROM many sections of the state come statements that the corn crop will not average more than half of an ordinary yield.

EVEN with two tickets in the field the Texas democracy has nothing to fear from their republican opponents—they are split as bad as the democrats.

MAJ. MCKINLEY's statement that "the foreigner pays the tariff tax" shows that either the Major does not know the facts or that he is afraid of them.

THE sight of a big burly negro man seated in a street car and a number of white ladies standing up is what makes converts to the separate coach law.

MAUD S. is no longer the queen of the trotting turf, that title having been won Wednesday by Nancy Hanks at Washington Park, Chicago, where she reduced the trotting record to 2:07 1-4.

THE Kansas republicans are in a row again. It is charged that State Senator Buchan, one of Ingalls' lieutenants, is instrumental in having the alliance withdraw its congressional candidate in the second district so as to beat Funston.

THE annual encampment of the G. A. R. at Washington commencing September 20th is assuming mammoth proportions. It is estimated that from 300,000 to 500,000 old veterans and other visitors will be present and it is doubtful if the nation's capital can entertain so many guests.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

The Sedalia Forger Has a Record in Marshall.

Several days ago the DEMOCRAT mentioned the fact of a Sedalia merchant having been swindled by the bogus check scheme. A dispatch from Marshall, Mo., gives the following additional facts concerning the affair:

"A professional crook and an experienced forger of checks is wanted here and in Sedalia, although his name and whereabouts are yet a mystery. The name of T. W. Gains, a prominent farmer of this county, has in every case been signed to the checks, which were drawn on the Bank of Saline of this city. Two of these checks, drawn in favor of Sedalia merchants were recently received here and protested. About two years ago the same party passed a few of the checks on merchants in this city and succeeded in making his escape before it was discovered that they were forgeries."

COMING TO THE RALLY.

Johnson and Cass Counties Will Send Big Delegations.

Mr. George M. Pemberton returned last night from a trip to Johnson and Cass counties in the interest of the rally.

He found the democrats of Johnson eager to hear Stevenson and Stone and to testify their fealty to democratic principles by taking part in the big rally. Johnson county promised to send one thousand delegates, headed by the Warrensburg democratic club.

The Cass county Democrats are no less enthusiastic than those of other counties. In and around Pleasant Hill are many of Gen. Stevenson's old friends and they are going to get all their neighbors to come to hear him. Mr. Pemberton says a democratic club was organized at Cockrell, Cass county, the other night and 35 members of the people's party became members.

Department of Oratory.

The study of oratory will be an attractive feature in the curriculum of the Marmaduke Military Academy, of Sweet Springs, Mo., this year. The young men are taught to control the people by the persuasive power of eloquence, as well as by the strong arm of military power. A department of oratory has been added, with Mrs. Kate Ellis Peed, who has won rare laurels from the public as a reader, as instructor.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL.

Clerk Mitchum and Attorney Longan Visit St. Louis in the Interest of the Rally.

County Clerk Mitchum and Prosecuting Attorney Longan, who went to St. Louis in the interest of the rally to be held here on the 30th, have returned home. Speaking about the success that attended their visit, they were highly elated over the promises made them both as regards the consideration shown them by the railroad company and the assurance from democratic clubs that they would furnish a large delegation.

Mr. H. C. Townsend, general passenger agent, said he would run regular trains at the rate of one fare for the round trip; and furthermore that specials would be furnished from all points on the line throughout the state where sufficient numbers would justify such accommodations.

The St. Louis delegation will leave about 6 o'clock on the morning of the 30th and reach Sedalia in ample time to take in all that transpires during that day.

Referring to the visit of Messrs. Longan and Mitchum, the Post-Dispatch of Tuesday has the following to say:

Prosecuting Attorney George F. Longan and County Clerk T. F. Mitchum of Pettis county, Mo., reached the city this morning and spent several hours at the Democratic headquarters at the Laclede. Both reside in Sedalia, and like all Sedalians are interested in that booming city. On the 30th inst., the democratic campaign for central Missouri will be formally opened there and extensive preparations are under way to make it the greatest demonstration ever seen in that city. The only speech Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson, the democratic nominee for vice-president, will make in Missouri, will be at the Sedalia meeting, and the democratic leaders up there expect that he will draw fully 40,000 people there, aside from 10,000 from Pettis county. Speaking to Maj. Salmon this morning Mr. Longan said: "We are arranging things on a grand scale, and expect fully 50,000 people. This will be three times the number Warner had at his opening. The people of Sedalia, irrespective of politics, have agreed to light up the illuminations that were put up all over the city for the fair which is now in progress. We have splendid bands and thousands of strong lunged democrats to add their share to the enthusiasm for Cleveland, Stevenson, tariff reform and Col. Stone. The railroads running in our way have all offered low rates and the crowds will pour in on us in such numbers as have never been seen in any city in Missouri outside of St. Louis. There will be fully twenty-five brass bands and a couple of hundred marching clubs. The speakers advertised in the bills are Senator Vest, Col. Stone, Col. Dick Dalton and Congressman John T. Heard. All the candidates for state offices on the democratic ticket will be there in addition to the officers and members of the state committee."

THEY ARE COMING.

A Special Train to be Run From Hannibal—The Number Expected From the North.

Col. R. D. Thatcher, who in company with Capt. T. C. Holland, left a few days since in the interest of the rally has returned. A special train will be run from Hannibal and the delegation from that place, including contingents from Moberly, Higbee, Fayette, Boonville and other points, will swell the crowd from that direction to not less than 1,000.

Indeed Hannibal has promised 200, Moberly the same, while 300 each from Howard and Cooper are promised.

The ladies' band from Moberly and a band from Hannibal will also be here on the occasion of the big rally.

Didn't Commit Himself.

From the Boston Courier.

Ethel—"Oh, Ernest, have you seen father?"

Ernest—"Yes; I've just come from his office."

Ethel—"And did he give his consent?"

Ernest—"I couldn't quite make out. He was so non-committal."

Ethel—"Well, what did he say?"

Ernest—"He didn't say anything at all."

Ethel—"Didn't you ask him?"

Ernest—"I said: 'Sir, I wish to marry your daughter. Have I your consent?' and he turned and looked at me for a minute, then he began to turn red in the face, and then he grabbed me and threw me over the banisters and before I could ask him again he had slammed his door and locked it."

They Will Be Here.

Col. Bogers, editor of the Warrensburg Journal Democrat, an old friend of Gen. Stevenson, gave the DEMOCRAT a pleasant call Thursday. He says his county will be well represented at the rally.

HON. JNO. T. HEARD.

THE GENIAL CONGRESSMAN
ARRIVES HOME AGAIN.

He is Visited by a "Democrat" Representative—Talks About the Rally—Vest Expected.

Hon. John T. Heard arrived home from Washington on Tuesday. A reporter for the Democrat called upon the gentleman at his residence on West Broadway that afternoon and was cordially received by the genial congressman. Mr. Heard was preceded home by his wife and her sister, Mrs. McCally, Monday. He will remain in Sedalia till after the big rally on the 30th, when, in company with his brother Col. Cliff Heard, formerly of this city, but now of Washington, he will go to the Rocky Mountains for a week or ten days. Mr. Heard has been suffering from catarrhal affection for the past three weeks, and it is to be hoped that the salubrious climate of the west will cause him to get rid of the trouble.

Speaking of the rally, Mr. Heard said: "I was very much gratified on reaching St. Louis to learn that General Stevenson will be with us. Some weeks ago I put myself in communication with him, but he at that time feared that he could not come to Missouri. I had almost resigned myself to disappointment when I learned that Messrs. Jackson and Salmon had secured his consent."

"How do you regard General Stevenson as a speaker?"

"Well, sir, I have heard him a number of times and I think he is an orator of extraordinary ability. He presents a magnificent appearance, has wonderful personal magnetism, and added to this he is such a fine gentleman when considered as a man, that you cannot fail to be captivated by him. Not only is Sedalia, but the entire state of Missouri, is to be congratulated over the good fortune that has attended the efforts to secure his presence here."

Mr. Heard received the following letter from the general on his arrival this morning:

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., Aug. 12, 1892.—HON. JOHN T. HEARD, SEDALIA, MO.—DEAR SIR: I write to say that I have accepted an invitation to speak in your city on the 30th of this month. I will be much gratified to see you at that time. When I wrote you before I did not think it would be possible for me to come but I have concluded to accept the kind invitation of yourself and the state committee.

Your friend,

A. E. STEVENSON.

Mr. Heard said that Senator Vest would arrive in Sedalia Wednesday morning. He furthermore stated that he thought it altogether likely that Hon. W. L. Wilson of Virginia and Mr. Bynum of Indiana would be here on the 30th.

ROAD CONVENTION.

Nearly Every County in the State to be Represented at Chillicothe.

Mr. Thomas Stanley, Judges Conway and Ferguson left for Chillicothe Tuesday to represent Pettis county at the state road convention which meets there Tuesday. The convention which will be in session two days, promises to be the biggest of any yet held in Missouri of the kind. Reports have been received at headquarters which go to show that nearly every county in the commonwealth will send delegates; in which case the number in attendance will be unusually large.

The most elaborate exhibition of machinery designed for the improvement of public highways will be made, and speeches by the best advocates of road improvements will be delivered. Among the speakers are several from New York, who have made the subject of road improvement a life study. Never before has such wide-spread attention been attracted by this important question, a fact that goes to show the people are beginning to realize that the improvement of public highways means economy in the end, and general prosperity. The eyes of the entire State will be directed on the convention at Chillicothe for the next two days.

A Costly Customer.

The merchants of Sedalia should be careful about accepting checks on outside banks from unknown persons.

The other day a young man representing himself to be T. W. Gains, of Saline county, called at a Sedalia store, purchased goods to the amount of $4.75 and tendered a check on the Bank of Saline, Marshall, Mo., in payment. The check was accepted and sent to the Bank of Saline where it was protested and sent back and the Sedalia merchant is out his goods and $2.50 protest fees.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

A Missing Boy from St. Louis Found by a Detective at the Depot.

While watching the midnight trains Monday for suspicious characters, Detective Ben C. Applegate, manager of the Mercantile detective service, St. Louis, had the luck to run across a "missing" young man for whom he has been looking for over a month.

During the early part of July, Edward Pickett, a 17-year-old young man, living at No. 2311 Clark avenue, St. Louis, was reported missing by his parents and the service of the agency secured to apprehend him. Young Pickett had been employed in a foundry and at the time of his disappearance had a week's wages still due him. No trace could be found and the case was set down as one of the many found in the great cities. Pickett's father is said to be an artist.

As the train pulled in over the branch Monday, Detective Applegate saw a young man get off at the depot whom he at once recognized as Pickett by the description given by his parents. He was taken into custody and the young fellow acknowledged his guilt at once. He claimed to have been working on a farm near Sweet Springs. He will be taken to St. Louis.

The man who wants to get away had better keep out of sight of Ben Applegate.

IT'S A BEAUTY.

The Arch That Spans Ohio Street—Decorations Completed—The Rally.

The magnificent arch that spans Ohio street at the intersection of Main, had the finishing decoration touches put on Monday. Either pillar is draped with stars and stripes, while across the keystone is stretched canvas on which is painted a hearty welcome to every one to be present at the state democratic love-feast to be held in Sedalia August 30th. With General Stevenson's presence and a number of other speakers whose fame is hardly confined within the continent, and with one of the best committees that could have been selected to work the rally up, it is highly probable that the approaching celebration here will be the occasion of calling forth the biggest political gathering that has ever assembled in Central Missouri.

From the New York World.

If a woman cares to see how nearly perfect her figure is let her compare her own measurement with the following:

Her height should be exactly equal to the distance between the tips of the middle fingers of either hand when the arms are fully extended.

Ten times the length of the hand or seven and a half times the length of the foot or five times the diameter of the chest, from one arm pit to the other, should also give the height of the whole body.

The distance from the junction of the thighs to the ground should be exactly the same as from the elbow to the middle line of the breast.

From the top of the head to the level of the chin should be the same as from the level of the chin to that of the armpits and from the heel to the toe.

TYPHOID FEVER.

A Large Number of Cases at and Near Lamonte.

Rev. C. P. Brewer, of Lamonte, was in the city Tuesday and informed a DEMOCRAT reporter that there were a number of cases of typhoid and malarial fever in Lamonte and vicinity.

Dr. Penquite and Mr. Sam Hall are among those suffering with typhoid fever, and Drs. Conway and Walker are working night and day caring for the sick. Rev. Brewer says the protracted meeting now going on at his church has been almost stopped by reason of so much sickness in the vicinity.

A Big Majority.

From the Blackburn Record.

Charles E. Yeater, of Sedalia, candidate for the state senate in this district, made a fine speech at Sulphur Springs, on last Saturday. He made a hit in this county by his efforts on that day. Saline county may depend upon for its usual majority for the democratic ticket—Charles E. Yeater included.

Spreading Herself.

From the Moberly Democrat.

Sedalia is spreading herself to make the grand rally of Aug. 30th, a memorable event in the state campaign. Missouri democracy is in the saddle and the third party combination playing in the interest of Bill Warner and Ben Harrison will be sick unto death in November.

ANARCHY REIGNS.

The Mountaineers in Possession of the Convict Camps.

THE RAILROADS ALSO CAPTURED.

Tennessee Militia Give Up to the Insurgents and Footsore and Hungry Reach Knoxville—Convicts Shipped to Nashville—Another Battle Reported.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Anarchy reigns supreme in the mining regions north of this city. Excitement here is intense and is heightened by the lack of definite information from the scenes of the trouble, the wires having been cut. The mob is in actual possession of the property of the East Tennessee railroad in the neighborhood of Coal Creek and Oliver Springs. They have cut wires in numerous places, torn up the tracks in every direction and captured every locomotive in the mining region.

The miners at Coal Creek, Jellico, Newcomb and other points seized three trains and with drawn Winchester's compelled the trainmen to take them to Oliver Springs. The crowd numbered 1,500 men, including the miners at the latter point. The warden heard of their approach and when the miners were at least a mile from the stockade cowardly abandoned his post and with his convicts and guards marched a mile to surrender.

The miners were led by D. L. Monroe, who makes no attempt to disguise the part he took. The guns of the militiamen were taken from them and they reached Knoxville about 7 o'clock last night. The miners then seized three trains, on which they had gone to Oliver, and loading the first with convicts and guards, and boarding the other two, pulled out for Clinton. From this point the convicts were brought to Knoxville, and the miners left for Coal Creek, where the miners of the entire region are concentrating.

The wires are out beyond Clinton and nothing can be heard, but the universal belief is that Coal Creek will be attacked before morning. At least 3,500 men are congregated there, and the miners say they can secure 5,000 men if necessary. The Chattanooga contingent did not reach the scene of action at all, although three trains gave ample opportunity. They numbered sixty-five men, and lay all day inactive at Harriman, eighteen miles from Oliver Springs.

It is now impossible to reinforce Camp Anderson, at Coal Creek, and the whole brunt of the battle will fall on Capt. Anderson and his command of 180 men. They have a commanding position on top of the mountain, overlooking the stockade, are heavily armed and should give a good account of themselves.

The receivers of the Walden's ridge railroad, acting upon orders from United States Circuit Judge Jackson, offered a reward of $200 each for the apprehension of six of the leaders of the rioting miners who took possession of trains on that road. They will be prosecuted on several charges.

The Knoxville militia reached home at 7 o'clock last night. As soon as their guns were taken from them by the miners they were ordered away from Oliver. They left Oliver Springs about 7 a. m. and reached the railroad in the afternoon, having tramped twenty-seven miles.

The liberated convicts, ninety-two in number, were shipped to Nashville last night. They had been without food for thirty-six hours when they reached Knoxville. Many of them still had their mining lamps in their hats.

There is a strong suspicion in the minds of many men, and the opinion is growing, that there is a political deal behind the whole matter.

Miners in Great Force.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Over 1,500 miners are massed at Coal Creek, all heavily armed. They have captured two companies of militia sent to Oliver Springs. They locked the soldiers in a warehouse at Clinton and then 1,000 strong marched them across the mountain to Coal Creek. When the proposed assault on Camp Anderson is made they will force the captive soldiers in uniform to march at the head of the column and have sent word to the officers in command of their intentions. They believe that the officers of the camp will refuse to fire on them as long as the soldiers are in front.

The miners held a meeting yesterday afternoon and several warlike speeches were made. Those in a position to know say that Camp Anderson will be defended to the last moment.

Various estimates are made of the number of the rioters, some estimates running up into thousands, but a general opinion prevails that "the woods are full of them." The number may be greatly exaggerated but they doubtless have a reserve force which will number fully 20,000 resolute men inured to hardship and fatigue, many of them veterans of the late war. Should they break out into open rebellion and defy the troops sent to quell the disturbances they will prove a very difficult body of men to handle, familiar as they are with all the mountain retreats, passes and bypaths.

Conservative people think that they will hesitate to oppose the troops, their main object seeming to be to create a public sentiment which will destroy any favor which exists toward the convict lease system.

Friends of the miners say that all will subside as soon as the miners are rid of the convicts, but most citizens fear that it will take the whole power of the state and possibly the aid of the national government to quell the disturbance. The full force of the state militia as it now exists does not exceed 2,000, possibly less than 1,500, and they cannot all be brought together inside of a week.

The Whole State Aroused.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—The state is thoroughly aroused and men of all classes are ready to join a law and order company to aid the military in restoring quiet, even at the cost of a few lives. Sheriff Holloway, of Knox county, has called for 500 citizens of Knoxville to go to the relief of the soldiers of Coal Creek. This is under authority of an order to that effect from Gov. Buchanan. Petitions have been wired to the governor asking him to call on the general government for aid.

An additional detachment of troops from thirty-five to fifty will leave here to reinforce the men of the Third regiment now in the field. All accounts agree that the mob of miners is marching to Coal Creek and will attack the stockade there.

Soldiers Stripped.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Thirty soldiers of the National guard reached the city last night, having walked the greater part of the way from Oliver, a distance of thirty-six miles. They were hungry and almost physically exhausted. They started to Oliver Tuesday and were captured by a body of 800 miners, who stripped them of muskets, side arms and belts. Maj. Chandler and Col. Macbeth, of the Third regiment, were threatened with lynching. It is stated that Col. Macbeth paid $10 for his release, provided he should return to the city. Chandler "pressed" a mule and made good his escape.

George W. Ford, labor commissioner of state, has arrived from Nashville, where he is supposed to have been in consultation with Gov. Buchanan. He is authority for the statement that all convicts, guards and soldiers will be withdrawn from Coal Creek by authority of Gov. Buchanan. Railroad people say they have received no orders for transportation.

Another Battle Raging.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—The telegraph wires to Coal Creek have been cut. It is reported that a battle is raging between the troops and the miners.

Cannonading can be heard in the distance. The streets here are crowded with a howling mob and the greatest excitement prevails.

Five newspaper correspondents who went to Coal Creek have been captured by the miners and are held as prisoners.

Buchanan Likely to Die.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Gov. Buchanan intended to go to Coal Creek last night, but was taken ill and is in a serious condition from nervous prostration. Gov. Buchanan's physician declares that he is dangerously sick and may die before morning. He is utterly prostrated and a physical wreck. In the event of his death command of the situation devolves upon Speaker of the House W. C. Dismukes, a man of nerve and pluck.

GRAVE APPREHENSIONS.

Washington Authorities Think Seriously of the Labor Troubles.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The present state of affairs in the labor world may curtail the summer plans of cabinet officers if it does not change those of the president himself. While everything is serene on the surface, in army circles there is an underlying current that is seriously disturbed. In a word, the opinion prevails that the coming September, if not the present month, may be a magnified reproduction of September, 1877.

It is pretty well known that the president holds very decided opinions on the subject of mobs. He was very quick to interfere in the recent mining riot at Wallace, Idaho, and his action in the cattlemen's troubles in Wyoming, in May was likewise emphatic. The most conservative army men here believe that the multitude of strikes now in progress in the country, coupled with the unusual discontent prevalent among the working classes, is surely leading to conditions with which the authorities of the states wherein trouble is apt to occur will find themselves unable to cope. With this idea in view the war department is taking quiet steps to ascertain the precise condition of the troops garrisoned in the east and middle west and the sentiment of the enlisted men is also being deftly sounded.

While the authorities deplore the necessity, should it arise, of sending United States troops into a state to put down any uprising, they expect it to come and are preparing themselves accordingly. Politicians scoff at any suggestion of this sort, and say that it would be suicide in the president to cherish any such ideas on the eve of the election, but that such a possibility is being seriously contemplated is beyond peradventure.

A GREAT ENCAMPMENT.

The Grand Army Reunion at Wichita, Kan.—Oklahoma's Day.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 18.—The department officers and veterans who have attended all the Grand Army reunions that have been held in the state pronounce this the best attended and most successful they have participated in. Camp Sedgwick has not less than 10,000 or 12,000 old soldiers and their followers under canvas and half as many more are quartered at the hotels and lodging houses in town. Yesterday was Oklahoma day, and the young territory was magnificently represented by a very large body of veterans. Ex-Gov. Anthony, Col. Dan Wyatt, commander of the department of Oklahoma; Gen. Tim McCarty and Miss Nan Silverwood, the last a Kansas born daughter of a veteran, were the orators of the day, and 15,000 people cheered to the echo their patriotic utterances.

Last night the Kansas Association of ex-Prisoners of War held a gathering.

Persistent Wooring Killed.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 18.—Carl Rudolph, a German stonemason, aged about 48 years, was shot and instantly killed by Eddie Dischner yesterday afternoon, the weapon used being a double-barreled shotgun, the load taking effect in the right side of Rudolph's neck and in his right breast. The cause which led to the tragedy was the persistent wooring by Rudolph of Miss Lena Pennoyer, a young woman who kept house for the young murderer's father. According to her story the dead man had persecuted the family with his visits for several months.

THIRD AND LAMINE.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, Henry Pehling did on the 21st day of March, 1890, execute his certain deed of trust, recorded in trust deed and mortgage record No. 69, at page 33, and also on the 10th day of October, 1887, his certain deed of trust in trust deed and mortgage record No. 60, at pages 22 and 23, executed and recorded as above, in the county of Pettis and state of Missouri, said deeds of trust to Jno. Montgomery, jr., as trustee, conveying the following described real estate: Beginning at a point in east line of Grand avenue, in Sedalia, Missouri, one hundred and sixty and 3-10 feet north of the north line of Third street, thence north along east line of Grand avenue fifty feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and sixty-four feet more or less, to an alley and to a point one hundred and ninety feet north of Third street, thence south on west line of said alley to a point one hundred and fifty-two feet north of Third street, thence west to place of beginning. Which said deeds of trust were given to secure payment of certain promissory notes or obligations in said deeds of trust fully described and set forth.

And, whereas, the above named trustee is unable, and fails and refuses, to act, and, whereas, it is provided in such trust deed that in case of such failure or refusal of such trustee to act, or other disability, the acting sheriff of Pettis county, Mo., should be empowered to execute such trust.

And, whereas, said deeds of trust provide that should default be made in the payment of said notes or obligations according to the terms and conditions thereof, the trustee shall at the request of the legal holders of said notes or obligations, proceed to sell the property above described to satisfy the same.

And, whereas, default has been made in the payment of said notes or obligations, now, therefore, notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned Ellis R. Smith, trustee, by virtue of the authority vested in me by said deeds of trust, and at the request of the legal holders of said notes or obligations, shall proceed to sell the real estate above described, at the west front door of the court house in the city of Sedalia, county of Pettis, and state aforesaid, to the highest bidder for cash, at public vendue on Tuesday, 20th day of September, 1892, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, to satisfy said notes or obligations, together with the costs and expenses of executing this trust.

ELLIS R. SMITH,
Sheriff and Acting Trustee.

Democratic Club Organized.

To the Editor of the Democrat:

LOOKOUT, Mo., Aug. 17, 1892.—The democrats of Heaths Creek township met at Scott's school house, their voting precinct, and organized a democratic club, fully endorsing the democratic platform as advocated at Chicago.

The young men of the vicinity were quite enthusiastic in their willingness to support the straight democratic ticket as they desire no such change as Major Warner would make, and further favoring millions for defense but not one cent for tariff or bounty for the favored few. We are in it to the finish. Three cheers for Grover Cleveland and tariff reform.

HEATHS CREEK DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

COMING TO THE RALLY.

Saline Will Send a Host of Democrats.

Hon. Chas. E. Yeater went over to Saline Tuesday and upon his return reported great interest among the sturdy democrats of that county on the subject of the big rally here on the 30th.

The enthusiastic Stone club of Marshall will charter a train and send a delegation of five hundred. Other towns will also be represented and probably one thousand Saline county democrats will show up in the grand parade.

EXAGGERATED.

The Reports as to the Loss Suffered by the Missouri Trust Company.

Remarking on the Nevada special as published in the morning papers to the effect that the Missouri Trust company of this city had been swindled out of $14,000 by one Clement C. Hall, a Cedar county agent, Col. O. A. Crandall, the president the company, said: "The report as published is erroneous both in substance and detail, we have the result of an investigation made by an expert accountant, and are prepared to say that the exact amount of loss in value is known and it will not exceed one fourth of the reported loss."

Col. Crandall stated furthermore that every dollar of the speculation was secured. The special referred to was published as follows in the Republic:

NEVADA, MO., Aug. 16.—Sheriff

Legg, of Cedar county, was here this afternoon to attach a buggy and team left in a livery stable by Clem C. Hall, agent at Stockton for the Missouri Trust company of Sedalia.

The agent of the company arrived in Stockton on the 10th, and began an investigation of Hall's books that night. Hall left and has not since been heard of, except the next day, when he arrived here in a buggy. It is supposed he left here the same night. Sheriff Legg says Hall had been agent for the company about two years and until recently had made all payments promptly. The agent told the sheriff that hall was ahead of the company from $10,000 to $14,000.

Hall was raised at Stockton and had enjoyed the confidence of everybody there for years. He is 35 years old and has a wife and two small children.

A GIRL FIEND.

Placed Dynamite in the House to Blow Up Her Brother and Sister.

HUDSON, Mich., Aug. 16.—Jennie Tabor, of this place, who was arrested here because her younger brother discovered twenty dynamite cartridges concealed about the house, has made a startling confession. She said she was going to blow up the house together with her brother and sister to secure the whole of her dead father's $5,000 estate.

She says that she was instigated by her lover, William Meyers, who also recently compelled her to go with him and rob George Goodwin's residence and with the money they got buy dynamite cartridges. The officers, however, are satisfied that Meyers is innocent.

COINCIDENCES.

A Remarkable Chain Connected With the Military Career of Lieutenant Parker.

Lieutenant Parker, of Green Ridge, has been stationed in the Indian Territory and will be ordered to his post on the 13th of September. He was notified of the appointment last Saturday August 13th.

Commenting on this particular date in the presence of several friends the lieutenant observed that it suggested a remarkable series of coincidences in his brief military career.

Asked for an explanation he continued:

"Well, sir, it was on the 13th of July, 1887, that I saw a notice of the competition and resolved to enter the contest; on the 13th of September following I received notice of my appointment to West Point; the 13th of June a year later, I narrowly escaped drowning at Niagara Falls; and I was advised of my appointment to the Thirteenth regiment on the 13th day of August, and will enter the service the 13th day of September.

A FRIGHTFUL SCOURGE.

Cholera Victims During the Rate of Hundreds a Day.

SIMLA, Aug. 16.—In consequence of the dread prevailing in Teheran over the invasion of cholera, the shah has taken up his residence at a camp at Elburz, twenty-four miles from Teheran.

In the city there is an alarming increase in the number of cholera cases reported daily. Every day the deaths average 300. A few days ago the average number of deaths was sixty. The American Protestant missionaries have many cholera patients in their hospital. They are doing incalculable good. All the railway and tramway traffic has stopped and the bazars have been closed. Nearly all the residents who have been able to go have fled the city. Almost all the victims of the disease are from the lower classes.

At Tabriz, the capital of the province of Azorbaian, cholera is raging with the most fatal effect. The city contains about 175,000 inhabitants, and they are dying at a fearful rate. Every day the deaths amount to several hundreds, and the disease shows no signs of diminution in its violence.

THE CHURCHES.

Superintendent Porter on the Ecclesiastical Part of the Census.

CHURCH GROWTH IN FORTY YEARS.

How the Denominations Have Increased—Methodists and Catholics in the Lead—The Value of Property and Relative Positions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Superintendent Robert P. Porter, in an address prepared for delivery at Asbury park, makes public the preliminary figures of church statistics of the eleventh census, which are both curious and interesting. There are shown to be in the United States nearly 150 separate and distinct church organizations of widely different creeds. They vary greatly in practice and represent all possible variations of church policy.

There are a dozen different branches of the Presbyterian family. There are some denominations that will answer only to the simplest, most indefinite title—for example the Brethren. There are various churches that claim to be simply Brethren. Four of these are called "Plymouth Brethren." But they do not own the title "Plymouth," nor is there any distinction which they have adopted by which these four bodies of Plymouth Brethren may be distinguished from others. There are two Reformed churches, known as the Reformed Church in America and Reformed Church in the United States. Some of the denominations were never numbered before and it required the utmost powers of persuasion to induce them to submit to the process.

The following table shows the number of churches in the United States today as compared with forty years ago:

Denomination.	1850.	1890.
Congregational.	1,706	4,796
Lutheran.	1,221	6,559
Methodists.	13,328	44,244
Presbyterians.	4,836	12,463
Roman Catholic.	1,277	8,766
Baptist.	9,360	39,391
Episcopal.	1,461	5,063
All other.	5,007	20,471
Total.	88,183	142,356

The value of church property for the same period is as follows:

Denomination.	1850.	1890.
Congregational.	$ 7,900,095	$ 4,335,437
Lutheran.	2,811,286	34,318,224
Methodist.	14,824,144	100,018,070
Presbyterian.	14,557,083	91,873,233
Roman Catholic.	9,256,758	118,381,516
Baptist.	11,001,127	68,028,291
Episcopal.	11,814,210	73,586,291
All other.	13,599,559	68,777,086
Total.	$67,446,371	$613,001,803

In point of number the Methodists stood first in 1850 and still retain the position, nearly one-third of the church edifices belonging to the Methodist church, while the Baptist can lay claim to more than one-quarter. Relatively speaking, the Episcopal church retains about the same position to the other denominations as it did in 1850. On the other hand, the Roman Catholic church has advanced considerably from a trifling 3 per cent. of the total number to over 6 per cent. In point of value, however, the Catholic church has made still greater strides, from an ownership of 10 1/2 per cent. of all the church property to an ownership of 18 1/2 per cent. In this respect the Catholic church now ranks second in importance, being exceeded only by the Methodist, which represents a trifle over 20 1/2 per cent. of the total value. In 1850 the value of church property of four denominations—Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Episcopal—outranked the Catholic church in this respect.

According to the returns of the eleventh census the number of communicants in the five principal religious denominations for which the statistics have been completed are as follows:

Denomination.	1890.
Congregational.	512,771
Lutheran.	1,099,514
Methodist.	4,235,377
Presbyterian.	1,278,515
Roman Catholic.	6,250,045
Total.	13,406,522

The communicants of the Baptist and Episcopal, with those of other denominations, will bring the aggregate up to about 18,000,000 in all.

The statistics of the colored denominations likewise show great progress. They have a total membership of 1,377,100 and own church property valued at $13,403,000.

Mistaken for a Poacher.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 15.—News has been received per steamer Bertha from Unalakleet, that a detachment of marines of the United States steamer Yorktown fired several volleys from their rifles into the pilot house of the steamer Polar Bear, seriously wounding the chief engineer. The Polar Bear was mistaken for a poacher.

Cholera in Persia.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Times' Tehran correspondent says: The mortality in Tabriz is estimated at 3,000. The cholera is raging there with the greatest severity. The governor and wealthy inhabitants have fled and the town is deserted. The mortality in Teheran is about 150 daily. There have been no deaths among Europeans here and the cholera cases are mild.

An Explosion Prevented.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—A box filled with gun cotton, placed in the center of a mass of petroleum and with a burning fuse attached, was found in the basement of the law court in Grenoble. The discovery was made just in time to prevent an explosion.

Cholera in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The cholera returns from the whole of Russia for the 11th inst., show a large increase in the number of new cases as well as in the mortality. There were 9,177 new cases and 9009 deaths.

A Holy War.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 15.—Le Patriote publishes a letter from the Lake Tanganyika country, the writer of which declares that the Arab rising in the Congo state is in obedience to the proclamation of a "holy war" from Mecca.

THE SYMNS GROCERY CASE.

River Jobbers Secure a Victory Over the Kansas Commissioners.

ATCHISON, Kan., Aug. 15.—The motion to dissolve the temporary injunction in the case of the Symns Grocery Co. of Atchison and others similarly situated against the state board of railroad commissioners and six railroad companies operated in Kansas, was overruled this morning by Judge Robert M. Eaton, of the district court. The suit was brought to enjoin the commissioners and the railroad companies from putting into effect an order of the commissioners, issued March 5, 1892, changing the rates heretofore established on sugar, coffee, beans and canned goods from Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City and Fort Scott to Hutchinson, Wichita, Salina and Arkansas City in carload lots.

The court holds that as the four articles in controversy are not produced in the state, except at a few places, and the profit on them is small, and the retail merchant will purchase them where he buys his other goods, it follows that unless the wholesale dealer can sell these articles, his trade in other commodities will fall off. The railroad commissioners have no right to interfere with or make a rate which in any way affects an interstate rate on such products.

AN UNWELCOME TRIO.

The Surgeon-General Talks About Yellow Fever, Small-Pox and Cholera.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Surgeon-General Wyman, of the marine hospital service, stated to a United press reporter that the reported arrival of an infected yellow fever vessel off the coast of Tampa, Fla., was correct, but every precaution had been taken to prevent communication with the shore.

In regard to two other dreaded plagues—small-pox and cholera—Dr. Wyman said that there had been a sort of pan-epidemic of small-pox throughout the United States, slightly more than usual—brought over, he believed, in immigrants' baggage. There was small-pox in New York and on the southern border of Canada, but not enough to cause apprehension of a general epidemic. There had been but one true epidemic of small-pox at a place called Harris Neck, Ga., where there were about 100 cases.

In regard to the possible importation of Asiatic cholera in the United States, Dr. Wyman said the utmost vigilance was being exercised.

The Minnesota Senatorship.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 14.—Attorney General Clapp, in a decision yesterday, holds that there will be no senatorial election this fall, for the reason that, under legislative enactment, all members of the senate hold over, making their terms four instead of two years. The senate consists of twenty-six republicans, three of whom are classed as independents, thirteen alliance and fifteen democratic members. The republicans must, under the ruling, secure more than a bare majority of the house in order to insure the return of a republican United States senator to succeed C. K. Davis.

Great Fire in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15.—At 10:30 a. m. fire broke out in the Brooklyn Cooperage Co.'s works, occupying the square bounded by Thalia, Erato, Peters and the levee. The whole structure was a mass of ruins. The building was the property of the Brooklyn Cooperage works, an auxiliary of the American sugar refinery and cost $500,000. It was thoroughly equipped with the most approved machinery. The building and machinery were insured for $300,000. The stock was valued at $100,000 and was partly insured.

Kansas Republican Rallies.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 15.—The republican state central committee has announced the places at which the opening rallies will be held as follows: First district, Holton; Second, Ottawa; Third, Chanute; Fourth, Emporia; Fifth, Salina; Sixth, Beloit, and Seventh, Hutchinson. The names of the speakers will not be announced until later. Only conditional engagements can be made for A. W. Smith on account of the serious illness of his son.

Peavy Buying Elevators.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 15.—The Central Elevator Co.'s system of elevators, consisting of about fifty grain elevators along the line of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad, has been purchased by F. H. Peavy, the well known Minneapolis elevator man. The deal is the largest sale of elevators that has occurred in this section for years, the cash consideration being $160,000.

Alton Boilermakers Strike.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 15.—All the employees of the boiler making department of the Chicago & Alton shops in this city struck yesterday by order of the headquarters of the National Brotherhood of Boilermakers. The men insist that the Alton people should pay the standard scale of wages, with a minimum per diem of $2.75.

Queen Victoria Not Privileged.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Judge Lawrence in the supreme court to-day decided that Queen Victoria will have to file surety to the amount of $250 for court costs if she wants to bring suit against the Standard Asphalt Co. to recover $9,000 for a quantity of asphalt alleged to have been stolen from Trinidad.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The town of Red Mountain, Col., has been wiped out by an incendiary fire.

A handsome railway depot at Algiers, New Orleans, fell into the river, the bank caving in.

A drunken man named Rogers was bayoneted in the leg at Homestead, Pa., by a militiaman. Rogers insisted on passing the lines.

John G. Warwick, representative from the Sixteenth district of Ohio, died at Washington. He was serving his first term in congress as successor to McKinley, whom he defeated.

An eastbound special on the Northwestern was wrecked near Clinton, Ia. Many passengers were injured, but no one was killed. The train contained Knights Templar from Denver.

IN HER FAVOR.

Public Sentiment Veering Round to Lizzie Borden.

A REMARKABLE STORY PUBLISHED.

The Father of Lizzie Said to Have Given Testimony Against Sailors Charged With Mutiny at Sea and By Them Threatened.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 15.—The Borden murders are the great topic here yet. At the Central Congregational church, of which the Borden family were members, union services were held yesterday, attended by the members of the First and Central churches.

It is Lizzie Borden's side of the case that is attracting the whole attention of the police. It is not thought now that the preliminary hearing set down for the 22d inst. will be of long duration.

It has been the policy of District Attorney Knowlton in handling capital crimes to give as little evidence as possible until the trial takes place.

Attorney Jennings, who beyond question believes in the innocence of Miss Borden, will do everything in his power to have a full examination at the earliest date. His sturdy work at the time of the arraignment has done much to change public opinion concerning the girl, more particularly that question referring to a fair trial by an impartial judge. Although Miss Borden is under arrest, charged with perhaps the most heinous crime committed in recent years, there is little talk about the punishment that should be meted out to her.

Friends are found in most unexpected places. The talk is almost entirely regarding her chances of proving her innocence. This fact gives the police authorities reason to think that much of the strongest evidence will have to be given before Attorney Jennings will consent to an order for holding his client until November. It is an open secret that the government officers believe that Miss Borden was insane at the time of the murders, if she committed them.

City Marshal Hilliard has heard nothing from Prof. Wood, who is analyzing the stomachs of the victims and comparing the spots of blood on the ax and carpet. He says if there is any truth in the reports that Wood has discovered that the blood is the same upon the ax and carpets it is very strange he has not heard it officially. The police have been engaged in testing statements made in many letters sent to the marshal.

Was It For Revenge?

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 14.—A number of years ago the Jefferson Borden, bound from a foreign port to this country, was seized by mutineers who claimed to have been cruelly treated by the officers, and in the general struggle and confusion the captain was struck with a marlin spike and killed. The ringleaders of the mutiny, five in number, were overpowered and placed in irons, and when the vessel reached port they were brought before the courts for trial. Two of them were Americans, two were British subjects and one a Portuguese who claimed to be a subject of Queen Victoria. In the courts the men told a fearful and pitiable story of inhuman treatment that forced them to the wildest desperation until they organized a mutiny and attempted to get control of the ship. Every man swore that in the general fight which occurred it was absolutely impossible to have located the murderer. By the aid of the English government the three foreigners were either released or escaped with light terms of imprisonment. Not so with the two Americans. They were declared guilty by the courts and sentenced to death, but later President Cleveland commuted their sentences to imprisonment for life in the state prison at Thomaston, Me.

The principal testimony which the courts took into consideration and acted upon was given by a gentleman who was on board with his wife at the time and who was the principal owner of the ship. Against this man the prisoners long ago swore they would have revenge. That man was Andrew J. Borden, of Fall River, who, with his wife, has gone down to death at an assassin's hand. The daughter's story of the two strangers about the house on the day of the murder seems to have no weight with the police, although it may have later on if it should be learned that they were two of the five men who were engaged in the mutiny.

Up to a year ago a most strenuous effort was made by a man named Sullivan, prominent in the Atlantic coast seamen's union, to secure the release of the two men confined in Thomaston prison. Petitions for a pardon were signed by all the trade and labor organizations of the country and presented to President Harrison and it is believed that the men were pardoned about eight months ago. If these men were released and the fact can be established that they or any of their comrades were in or about Fall River the day of the murder it may mean the release of Lizzie Borden.

Fire at a Reformatory.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Aug. 15.—At 6 o'clock last evening flames were discovered issuing from the new south wing of the brush factory at the Huntington reformatory and in less than an hour this building together with the adjoining three-story building, used as a carpenter shop, was entirely destroyed.

THE BOATSWAIN'S BODY.

Funeral of Charles W. Riggins at Woodland Cemetery, Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—All that is mortal of Boatswain's Mate Charles W. Riggins now lies in Woodland cemetery. The interment was made yesterday afternoon and the civic and military demonstration in connection with the funeral was one of the most imposing given in this city for some time, 5,000 men being in line.

At 2 o'clock the body was taken from Independence hall, where it lay in state Saturday afternoon, and under the chief marshaling of R. M. J. Reed the procession formed in line.

The streets were lined with spectators five deep and the route was up Chestnut street to Broad, Broad to Market, Market to Thirty-ninth and thence to the cemetery. The large cemetery was crowded, and upon entering the right of the line was halted on the main avenue directly opposite the Riggins plot, where the ranks were opened and the hearse with the guard from the United States navy yard proceeded through the line, the usual honors being paid. The body was met at the grave by Riggins' relatives and friends.

The services opened with prayer by Rev. Samuel H. Boyer, an Episcopal clergyman at whose church Riggins was an attendant. The rector spoke feelingly of the dead sailor and alluded to his love for his country and his flag. Capt. W. W. Kerr next delivered an oration and read the sworn testimony of every eye-witness of the Valparaiso affair. Rev. McGregor delivered the funeral ceremony. A last salute was then fired by a party of marines from the League Island navy yard. It was nearly 7 o'clock when the services concluded.

A RELIGIOUS FESTIVAL.

Disaster Attends a Celebration at a Town in Italy.

NAPLES, Aug. 15.—The festival of the St. Anselm was closed at Cesa last evening with fireworks at the market place. A crowd of several hundred had gathered around the spot where the fireworks were set off.

A bunch of rockets was set too near a burning wheel and was ignited. The rods were driven through the thick crowd, carrying with them fire and panic.

Six men were struck in the face or neck by the rods and were badly torn and burned that they died before they could be removed.

The sparks set fire to the light gowns worn by several girls, and before the fire could be extinguished four of the young women were seriously injured. In the panic many children were trampled. Several men suffered fractures of arms and legs while they were struggling in the crowd and some twenty-five or thirty people were more or less injured.

Drunkness, Murder and Suicide.

LIBERTY, Mo., Aug. 15.—Peter McCauley, a farmer living near Smithville, was shot and killed by his own son, William, who immediately turned his revolver upon himself and ended his own life. Old man McCauley came to town early yesterday. He began drinking soon after his arrival. By afternoon he was drunk and quarrelsome and was arrested for disturbing the peace. The son had been brooding over the disgrace until he was demented, when he hunted up the old man and killed him and then himself.

Thurston Joins the People.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—Chairman Taubeneck, of the people's party executive committee, received a letter this morning from Paul Vandervoort, of Nebraska, ex-governor commander of the G. A. R., stating that John M. Thurston, ex-president of the National league of republican clubs and chairman of the national republican convention of 1884, had taken the stump in the interest of the people's party and was now making a tour of the state in behalf of Gen. Van Wyck, the people's party candidate for governor.

Made Without Authority.

THOMPSON, Conn., Aug. 15.—Judge Walter G. Gresham this afternoon declared that he would deliver no speeches during this campaign. Questioned concerning the statement given the press recently by Chairman Taubeneck, of the people's party, at St. Louis that he had concluded to take the stump in the interest of the third party, the judge said the statement was made without authority; that he should make no political speeches during the campaign.

A Trespasser Killed.

PARIS, Mo., Aug. 15.—John Humphrey and son Ernest, living near Santa Fe, 18 miles south of this place, got into a difficulty with a man by the name of Cahn. Cahn had tried to force his way over Humphrey's land and failing to do this he grappled Humphrey around the waist and while attempting to take his revolver away from him was shot by young Humphrey through the head and killed.

Three Men Ground to Pieces.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15.—Seven Swedes, who left Schriver on a handcar, were going through a deep rock cut yesterday when an engine, coming in an opposite direction, crashed into them. Three of the men were ground to pieces and instantly killed, while the other four were thrown against the face of the cut and dangerously wounded.

Fire at a Reformatory.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Aug. 15.—At 6 o'clock last evening flames were discovered issuing from the new south wing of the brush factory at the Huntington reformatory and in less than an hour this building together with the adjoining three-story building, used as a carpenter shop, was entirely destroyed.

BUFFALO RIOTS.

Striking Switchmen Wreck and Burn Trains.

AN ALARMING STATE OF THINGS.

A Passenger Train Derailed—Fires Fanned, Switches Turned and Men Beaten—The Torch Applied to Freight Trains.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The strike of Erie & Lehigh Valley switchmen is serious. Riot and incendiaryism mark its tidal wave.

Property belonging to the railroad company has been destroyed by incendiary fires, men engaged in the peaceful performance of their duties in the company's service have been assaulted and sent to the hospitals, the movement of trains has been seriously interfered with and the lives of innocent persons, who were in no way connected with the strike and had not even heard of it, have been endangered by the derailment of a passenger train on one of the roads.

There had been more or less trouble Saturday between the strikers and their sympathizers and the men who are doing the strikers' work and a few desultory assaults had occurred. Things began to put on a more serious aspect at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, when a series of incendiary fires broke out simultaneously in the Lehigh Valley yards. Eighteen or twenty freight cars filled with wool, cotton, hay and various other merchandise, two passenger coaches and two watchmen's houses were burned among the cars of merchandise. It took the hose from three carts to reach the flames from the nearest hydrant. The firemen, however, prevented the destruction of a great number of cars and the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property. The cars destroyed were in the midst of a great number of other cars. The firemen uncoupled a number of cars and removed them from danger. A dozen or so of cars were thrown from the Lehigh tracks and a similar number from the Erie by misplaced switches.

The first intimation of anything wrong was when the coal cars were set loose and demolished the water tank. Then the fires broke out simultaneously. Capt. Wirtz, of the Eleventh precinct, put a force of a dozen officers in the yard as soon as the alarm was given, but they were unable to find any suspicious characters.

That briefly is what had happened up to daylight. But that was only the beginning. The strikers or their sympathizers have pulled pins, turned switches and driven off crews. One was assaulted at 3 o'clock, two others at 11 and another later. One man was assaulted at the Western New York & Pennsylvania crossing. He was on his way for the wrecker at the time and was turning a switch. The strikers had turned switches and thrown six cars from his train before that. He was struck on the head and when taken to the hospital was completely dazed and did not know what had occurred.

One of the most cowardly things done was the throwing of switches under passenger train No. 17 at William street at 7:30 last evening. Two passenger coaches were derailed, but no body was hurt, though many were badly frightened. Fifty men boarded passenger train No. 3 at 11 o'clock this morning, driving the employees off. The crew finally succeeded in getting the train to the station. The mob took possession of the Seneca street switches three or four times during the day and drove off the signal men.

In the Lehigh yards at Cheektowaga the scenes of the previous night were repeated. It is plainly intimated by the Erie officials that workmen from the east have been engaged to take the places of the strikers. Three stalwart policemen were stationed in the hall-way leading to the superintendent's office to-day.

The strikers say they are determined to win the fight and say that the roads are losing heavily by not having men to perform the work of the strikers. They say the Erie is demoralized by the strike and that every sidetrack on the Buffalo division is completely blocked.

Two trains of freight cars on sidings at Cheektowaga, the railroad suburb of Buffalo, were burned last night. The Lehigh Valley called on the sheriff for protection and he sent six deputies to the scene. The police have yards in seven out of eleven precincts in the city to guard and all reserves are called out. The strike has extended to Waverly and Sayer on the Lehigh, and all freight traffic on that line is at a standstill. A train of beef stands on an Erie siding there, the switchmen refusing to allow it to be switched to the Lehigh tracks. The division superintendent of the Lehigh has telegraphed to Oswego for the sheriff to come to his aid, although the men are making no demonstration. To-day it is expected the Erie men will also go out and then all traffic through these towns will be at a standstill. The men are non-communative and their future movements are unknown.

Word was received at 2 o'clock this morning that a train of forty-two cars on the Erie road filled with fine merchandise, a mile east of Williams street, is now burning fiercely with no protection. At 2:45 o'clock the passengers on the Lehigh and Erie roads, which had been dithered at William street near the city line, were brought to the station by Superintendent Brunn's special train. Nobody was injured, but the delay of four hours had been an experience which none of them cared to repeat.

British Warships Disabled.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The British twin screw cruiser Apollo, 3,000 tons, mounting eight guns, struck the docks of Berehaven yesterday and loss of life or wreck, or both, was only averted by the coolness and promptness of the captain. The Naiaid was struck and has eight inches of water in her after compartment and is otherwise damaged.

BAD AS CHOLERA.

DEADLY EPIDEMIC RAGING IN NEW JERSEY.

A Disease Resembling Cholera Is Claiming Victims by the Score—Physicians Almost Baffled.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A deadly epidemic of dysentery, very closely resembling cholera in some respects, is raging in the little town of Helmetta, New Jersey, and has already claimed victims by the score.

The first reports reaching this city were that the deadly disease was Asiatic cholera, and while these have been contradicted the fatal character of the epidemic was not exaggerated and the health authorities in this city have become nervous.

The town of Helmetta only contains about 400 inhabitants, but of this number 175 have been attacked with the disease, of whom twenty-one have died. The disease is spreading to neighboring communities. In the section where it first appeared sanitary regulations are almost totally disregarded.

The disease first appeared three weeks ago and is believed to have been introduced by a young Polisher from the Castle Garden, Labor Bureau.

It had all the acute features of dysentery in addition to nausea, and the medicines prescribed in case of dysentery and cholera morbus failed utterly to allay its deadly effects. Dr. Denelsbeck, of Spotswood, was the first physician called upon to treat a patient suffering with the strange disease, and, failing to relieve his patient, he called Drs. Suydam and Zant, of Jamesburg, and Dr. Disbrow, of Old Bridge, in consultation. These four physicians are now attending to all the cases in the three villages.

There is scarcely a family in Helmetta that has not been visited by the epidemic, and deaths occur daily in spite of the most heroic efforts of the physicians. The disease attacks persons in the best of health and weakens them rapidly.

The fact that it comes with the symptoms of Asiatic cholera has given rise to the theory, which appears to be well founded, that some of the recent Polish arrivals imported the disease. Loss of blood is the most prominent symptom of the new malady.

Dr. Cyrus Edson of the health department of this city gave it as his opinion to-day that the disease is not cholera at all, but simply a case of bad village water, but this statement is refuted by the Helmetta physicians, who say the water is good and that it has had nothing whatever to do with the outbreak. In spite of the light manner in which Dr. Edson disposes of the matter, it is plain to be seen that he is greatly agitated. The health officials have been making preparations now for more than a month to ward off the cholera, and these efforts will be redoubled. There seems to be a growing impression everywhere in the city that cholera in one form or another is bound to find its way here, and every scanty report of a fresh step followed is received with a sigh of apprehension. It is difficult to mark the successive steps of the present European epidemic owing to the meager reports, but it is believed that it is now only a question of transportation from some of the European ports.

The health authorities urge that communities all over the country commence at once to enforce sanitary regulations, and that all persons pay particular regard to cleanliness.

WITH HIS BOOTS ON.

Details of the Killing of a Notorious Missouri Desperado at Granby, Mo.

From the Lamar Democrat.

George Hudson, the notorious thief and murderer, was killed on Saturday night, about 11 o'clock, much to the relief of the citizens of Newton county, as well as of Jasper county. From his boyhood he has been a terror. He is said to have killed fully twenty-five men, and at the town of Granby he was dreaded by all. If he was not pleased with a citizen, the citizen was notified to leave, and he generally left while he was able to go. Hudson had collected around him a number of men, many of them his relatives by blood or marriage, and managed things to suit himself. In 1876, he and his gang went to Colorado, and while there pursued a course of lawlessness. Hudson was indicted out there, and a special messenger, Wm. Rabodeu, was sent there after him. Gov. Francis' requisition was placed in the hands of Carl Stout, a Joplin policeman. These with four other officers went to Granby on Saturday to arrest Hudson. Stout and Rabodeu entered Hudson's saloon and called for two bottles of beer; when Hudson turned to the bar with the beer, Stout had him covered with his revolver. Hudson caught the revolver with an oath and struck him over the head with a beer bottle. Rabodeu fired then at Hudson, the ball passing through his neck. In the struggle for the revolver it was discharged, the ball passing through Hudson's heart. He was taken to the pavement dead, no one present except Mrs. Hudson, his wife, and the posse of officers. When the shooting began the citizens hid out. They don't care to testify in a case where Hudson is interested. This noted desperado is dead and Newton county is relieved of a scourge that was a blight on her fair name. The murderer of Dr. Howard, of Joplin; of N. O. Tabor, and J. F. Goodykootz, and a long list of other men, has met his fate. He died as he had lived, fighting against the law and its officers.

A Cowardly Crime.

Sunday night about 11:30 o'clock while Mr. George Rogers, the night telegraph operator here, and his wife were sitting in the office, Mr. Rogers being at work at a desk at the east side of the office, and his wife sitting near him, some cowardly scoundrel, who was evidently standing in the gentlemen's waiting room, fired a shot through the east door of the office apartment which barely missed Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and went crashing through the ticket case on the opposite side of the wall, punching about 200 tickets, (which wasn't fair). Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were so badly scared that they could do nothing for a few moments. Mr. Rogers then went out to investigate but could not see or hear any trace of the would-be assassin, and he is at loss to know who committed the diabolical deed. He hasn't a known enemy anywhere, which leads many to believe that the shot was fired by some one who wanted to rob the office, but who was too green to know how to proceed. The ticket sales that night had been unusually large, and it is probable the scoundrel knew it and attempted to secure the money. The bullet was of 38 calibre and fell in the ticket case after passing through the tickets. We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Rogers on their narrow escape.—Fayette Advertiser.

A Ten Thousand Dollar Suit.

CARTHAGE, MO., Aug. 11.—Suit has been commenced against the Missouri Pacific railway by Attorney W. T. Green, on behalf of John Kingston for false imprisonment. Kingston is a horse trainer and while going from Hutchison, Kan., to Wichita refused to pay fare, as he claimed the right to travel free with his horse. The conductor threatened to fire him, and when Kingston afterwards offered to pay, refused to receive it and had him placed in jail on his arrival at Wichita. He sues for $10,000. The case will attract much attention among horsemen, who travel widely during the racing season.

Died at Smithton.

T. P. Wakefield, a much respected and widely known citizen of Smithton, died at his home at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. The cause of his death was diabetes.

The deceased was a brother of M. D. Wakefield, postmaster at Clifton City, and was 50 years old. He leaves a wife and five children. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and A. O. U. W. and his family will receive $2,000 from the latter order. The funeral took place from the Smithton church Fri. afternoon and the body laid to rest in the cemetery at Otterville.

An Admonition.

From Puck.
Deacon Verigood—I wonder what Brother Bluphicks meant when he spoke to me to-day?
Mrs. Verigood—What did he say?

Deacon Verigood—I was so wrapt up in meditations on the sermon that I forgot to take up the collection, and he poked me and said, "Don't forget the kitty."

Deals in Dirt.

The following real estate transfer was recorded to-day:
Eliza C. Long to Jas. W. Gilbert, east half of west half of section 21, township 44, range 23, less twenty acres off south end, containing 140 acres. Price, $4,000.

McKinley's Great Work.

From the Washington Post.
From Governor McKinley's remarks in the west it is learned that he is still of the opinion that the tariff is not a tax and that the foreigners pay it.

Negro Colonization.

From the Indianapolis Sentinel.
From all quarters of the state come reports that the republicans are colonizing negroes. Everywhere there is evidence of it.

THE STATE RALLY.

MAGNITUDE OF THE OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN HERE.

Preparations That Have Been Made by the Democratic Local Committee on Arrangements.

The opening of the state democratic campaign in this city on August 30th promises to be the largest rally ever held in Sedalia, if not in the entire state.

The local committee on arrangements is untiring in its efforts to secure as full representation here on that occasion as possible, and the favorable responses to their hundreds of letters sent out to representative democrats indicate that their most sanguine expectations are to be realized.

Circulars addressed to all the leading democrats of the county have been sent out, urging the cooperation of clubs from the several towns, so as to give home democracy the very fullest representation. An extract from one of these circulars will give the reader an idea of the contents, together with a better appreciation of the magnitude of the rally:

"The democratic state committee has decided to open the campaign in this city on Tuesday, August 30th, 1892, and have secured for the occasion a number of our ablest speakers, gentlemen of national and state reputation, who will address us both afternoon and evening on said day. We will positively make this the grandest political demonstration ever held in this part of the state, and with this end in view propose to immediately organize democratic clubs in every township, who will, in conjunction with the Sedalia democratic clubs, give a big street parade at 1:00 o'clock on Tuesday, August 30th, immediately prior to the afternoon speaking, and at 7:00 p. m. will give a grand torch light procession and fire-works display in which we hope to have 2,000 or 3,000 footmen and horsemen participate."

Several thousand of these circulars worded differently so as to apply to the general public have been sent to all parts of the state.

Reference to the speakers expected to be here on this occasion has already been made; it remains only to be added that inquiries on the part of the local committee as to the likelihood of Stevenson, Wilson and Vest being here, have met with most encouraging replies. There can be but little doubt that the meeting will be the biggest political gathering ever held in Central Missouri.

A NEW ELECTRIC LINE.

An Enterprise That Is Now Being Talked Up in Sedalia—May Run to Marshall.

Last year it was proposed to organize a syndicate and pipe McAllister water to Sedalia and establish a big summer resort at Sicher's park. The scheme has been modified and it is now proposed to build and electric line to McAllister.

There are many things in favor of the practicability of such a movement. There are few places in the state that could be made a more desirable watering place. The water has no equal for medicinal virtues and its bathing pools were famous long before the summer resort craze had ever been thought of in this part of the state. The scenery is picturesque and, on the whole, a more delightful place could not be imagined for those who wish to rest and recuperate.

The road itself would pass through a district that would doubtless give much traffic to the line. More than this, it would in all probability be extended to Marshall, if built, an enterprise that has been privately talked of among certain capitalists for quite a time.

A "Bed Day" for Children.

A mother in the Housekeepers' Weekly.
About once a month I noticed that my two strong, active children grew what was called "cross." I determined to watch for the cause, and discovered that even the infant boy can stand only a certain amount of exercise without becoming "worn out." When therefore at night I found one or the other particularly "cranky" I would say to myself: "It is time this child was rested. To-morrow must be a 'bed day.'"

The children understood that this was nowise punishment, but a simple sanitary measure. Playthings there were in plenty, but no getting out of bed. How that room did look sometimes! Cut papers, toys, everything in every direction, but I knew that the little legs and body were obtaining a much needed rest, and what did a little clutter more or less amount to?

The next day they would be as bright and "chipper" as young robins. I firmly believe that by this plan I have warded off many a little attack of actual illness by building up the physical strength so that sickness could not take a hold. This plan I believe to be original with me, but I am not only willing to give it away to all mothers, but to send as well hearty good wishes with it.

CAPTURED IN SEDALIA.

Eva Crow Arrested and to be Taken Back to Chicago for a Big Robbery.

Eva Crow, the handsome mulatto girl, aged about 23 years, who was sent to jail a few days ago for stealing a number of ribbons, laces, etc., from the residence of D. M. Dodge, the mail carrier, is now in a position to serve a term in the Illinois penitentiary.

In answer to a telegram from Marshal DeLong, G. C. Weaver, a Chicago detective, arrived in the city Friday morning to take the woman back to that city for a robbery committed while she was working in the capacity of a nurse girl for Mrs. Carrie Fisher, living on Michigan avenue.

While Mrs. Fisher was away from home on the 25th of last April, the Crow woman went through her employer's trunk and stole five dress patterns, one dress being already made, one beaver cape and muff, one lady's ulster, ten suits of underclothing, a gold locket and necklace, and a diamond clover leaf breast pin. The articles were valued at about $300. She immediately disappeared and detectives were at once put upon her track, but the last trace of her was lost at Boston, Mass., and the officers gave up the chase and commenced a still hunt.

It was known that while in Chicago she passed as the wife of Dave Carter, for a number of years a pressman in Sedalia. Carter was known to have lately come to Sedalia and Marshal DeLong was notified to be on the look out for the woman and notify the Chicago officers whenever she showed up.

When she was arrested, Marshal DeLong promptly informed the Chicago parties. Sheriff Ellis Smith, by means best known to a detective, succeeded in getting a full confession of the theft from Miss Crow. The articles were located at the house of a relative of the woman at Seventeenth and Lamine. The diamond pin, however, was missing. She is said to be guilty of several other similar escapades in Chicago.

Requisition papers are expected from Illinois and she will be taken back when they are received.

Dave Carter, with whom she was connected in Chicago and Sedalia, is thought to be guiltless of any criminal connection with the affair, as he has always borne a good reputation.

Constable Robert Ramsey arrested the woman for the trick turned in Sedalia. Her appearance indicated that she was perhaps a smooth artist and when a DEMOCRAT reporter asked Constable Ramsey if she was wanted anywhere else, he was told to wait as he would perhaps be given some information in a short time that would add another chapter. Marshal DeLong took up the matter and Detective Weaver was warm in his compliments concerning him.

Sweet Springs Hotel Closed.

The many friends of the Sweet Springs hotel and its management will regret to learn that this famous resort has closed its doors for the season. The water pipes that carry the water for the swimming pool at Sweet Springs from the akasian springs on Blackwater, a short distance below McAllister have been broken and in bad repair during the entire season. No water could be secured and the pools accordingly have remained dry. This, of course was very undesirable to the guests who had been accustomed to spend the summer at the hotel during past years. Business gradually became too bad to merit further risk and there will be no more revelry at Sweet Springs until 1893.

The New Cars.

The new motor cars received yesterday by the electric line are even an improvement on the substantial old ones. The platforms are larger and either end is supplied with a bumper. They are numbered 12 and 13, respectively. No. 12 was sufficiently completed to run this afternoon.

Son Sick.

A. K. N. Gross, the well known temperance advocate, was called to Maryville, Nodaway county, last evening by telegram announcing the sickness of his son.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, on November 16th, 1889, William Dunfee and Elizabeth Dunfee made, executed and delivered their deed of trust, for the purpose of securing the payment of three bonds for the sum of sixty dollars ($60.00) each, named in said deed of trust, wherein they conveyed to the undersigned, David H. Ettien, trustee, the following described real estate, situated in the county of Pettis and state of Missouri, to-wit:

The south half of the southwest quarter, and the south twenty-one and one-fourth (21 1/4) acres of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter, and the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and five (5) acres in the northeast corner of northwest quarter of southeast quarter, described as follows: Commencing at northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter and running thence south forty (40) rods; thence west to main channel of Muddy creek; thence down said creek to north line of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter; thence east to place of beginning—all in section thirty-four (34), township forty-six (46), north range twenty-three (23), west 5th p. m. And whereas said deed of trust was filed for record December 20th, 1889, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., and was duly recorded in book 66, at page 275, of the records of said Pettis county, Missouri; and whereas it is provided in said bond and deed of trust that, if the said William Dunfee and Elizabeth Dunfee shall fail to pay, or cause to be paid, any of the said bonds at the time the same become due and payable, then the whole amount secured by said deed of trust shall at once become due and payable without notice; and whereas the said William Dunfee and Elizabeth Dunfee have failed to pay, or cause to be paid, the said bond, which became due and payable on the first day of December, 1891, wherefore the whole amount secured by said deed of trust is now due and payable and unpaid under the terms of said bonds and deed of trust.

Now, therefore, public notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, David H. Ettien, the trustee named in said deed of trust, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said deed of trust, at the request of the legal holder and owner of said bond, will proceed to sell the above described real estate at public vendue, to the highest bidder, for cash, at the front door of the county court house of Pettis county, Missouri, in the city of Sedalia, the county seat of said county, on between the hours of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, for the purpose of raising the money to pay the amount of said bond, with interest, and the costs of executing this trust.

DAVID H. ETTIEN, Trustee.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, on December 31st, 1887, Perry Lewis and Arazer W. Lewis made, executed and delivered their deed of trust, for the purpose of securing the payment of one bond for the sum of nine hundred dollars, ($900.00), with interest coupons attached, named in said deed of trust, wherein they conveyed to the undersigned, David H. Ettien, trustee, the following described real estate, situated in the county of Pettis and state of Missouri, to-wit:

The northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section one (1), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section two (2), all in township forty-five (45), north range twenty-two (22), west of the 5th p. m. And whereas said deed of trust was filed for record January 28th, 1888, at 3:30 o'clock p. m. and was duly recorded in book 59, at page 99 to 103, of the records of said Pettis county, Missouri; and whereas it is provided in said bond and deed of trust that, if the said Perry Lewis and Arazer W. Lewis shall fail to pay, or cause to be paid, any of the interest coupons attached to said bond at the time the same become due and payable, then the whole amount of said bond shall at once become due and payable, without notice; and whereas the said Perry Lewis and Arazer W. Lewis have failed to pay, or cause to be paid, the interest coupons attached to said bond which became due and payable on the first day of January, 1892, and on the first day of July, 1892; wherefore the whole amount of said bond is now due and unpaid under the terms of said bond and deed of trust.

Now, therefore, public notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, David H. Ettien, the trustee named in said deed of trust, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said deed of trust, at the request of the legal holder and owner of said bond, will proceed to sell the above described real estate at public vendue, to the highest bidder, for cash, at the front door of the county court house of Pettis county, Missouri, in the city of Sedalia, the county seat of said county, on

The two-year-old trotting race for a purse of $1,000, best two in three in harness, was a good one, even though Maxie B. had it pretty much her own way, Capt. Walbridge in a rush to pass Maxie B. went off his feet in both heats. The latter went for a record in the last heat and scored a 2:34 gait. The summary is as follows:

When the horses for the $2,000 pacing race were called from the stables, each tap of the bell increased the expectancy of the crowd that filled the grand stand. The score card showed that Sam Fuller was to hold the reins over Walnut Boy. This horse is owned in Windsor and the people in this section of the state have watched with interest the many good things he has done under the careful training of his driver. The crowd little thought, however, that in a few minutes one of the most exciting accidents ever seen on a race track would occur.

The first heat was a hard struggle from the start for Belle Durland, Comus and Walnut Boy, who crowded each other closely. The horses were going too fast at the three-quarter pole for any decided spurt, but Walnut Boy managed to pull up beside Belle Durland. Both strained every muscle for an advantage, but passed under the wire amidst the howls of the audience in a dead heat. Time, 2:20¾.

In the second heat Walnut Boy led in fine form from the start and was kept hustling by Belle Durland, who broke in the last quarter with her nose even with Fuller's sulky. Juliet's driver attempted second place, but Belle caught her just as she passed under the wire. Walnut Boy won in the good time of 2:19, the fastest heat of the pace.

There was lots of scoring for a start in the third heat. After several attempts to get away, an accident occurred that thrilled and horrified the audience in every nerve. Clear Grit's driver in moving to position had the hub of his sulky struck by that of Comus. The right wheel of Clear Grit's whirled high in the air, turning over and catching Driver Maddox underneath. He was dragged a short distance, but finally managed to get disentangled. Clear Grit was now loose on the track and wild with fright. Sam Fuller was driving Walnut Boy close to the fence. The other drivers and bystanders yelled at him to get out of the way. It was too late, however, and Clear Grit plunged into the rear of Fuller's sulky, putting his foot through a wheel, striking Fuller with his hoofs, and bruising him on the back and hips, overturning the sulky and throwing the runaway horse to the ground. He had passed over Fuller by this time, however. Clear Grit was caught after running a short distance down the track and found to be so badly cut that he was withdrawn from the race. Driver Maddox was badly stunned but was soon on his feet. Fuller bled profusely from a flesh wound and was attended by Dr. Ferguson who soon had Sam patched up.

Walnut Boy was now driverless and running around the mile track at a lightning speed, kicking at every jump. The sulky would pound the ground, bound high into the air and turn over and over. As the horse turned down the last half, a large crowd attempted to stop him. An out rider tried to run along side of him and catch the rein but to no purpose. The horse ran straight at the crowd and did not swerve an inch. There was a big scattering to prevent being crushed to death. The horse continued his course and passed out of a small gate at the east end of the track where he was caught. An examination showed a most miraculous escape of this valuable animal. A number of abrasions on the lower part of his hind legs where he had struck the sulky were the only injuries. The sulky was in kindling wood.

The heat was postponed, and after a trot, was called again. As Fuller and Walnut Boy came on the track again looking none the worse for the accident, the crowd rose up and howled itself hoarse. Walnut Boy had the best of it until he reached the half-mile pole, when Belle Durland gave him a lively tussle. He forged ahead again and in the time of 2:21.

In the fourth heat he had everything his own way and passed under the wire a winner in 2:20. Summary: Walnut Boy, br s, J. G. Callison, Windsor, Mo.,..... 1 1 1 Bell Durand, b m, C. C. McKinney, Evansville, Ind.,..... 2 2 2 Jersey Girl, Ashbrook Farm, Kansas City, Mo.,..... 5 3 3 Juliet, ch m, Hurxthal's Sons, Chillicothe, Mo.,..... 3 dis. Lillie Bush, s m, Rust Bros, Lawson, Mo.,..... 4 dis. Comus, b s, Thos. McFarland, Carthage, Ill.,..... 6 dis. Bettie, ch g, Lew Hinkley, Lyons, Neb.,..... 7 dis. Clear Grit, br g, Dyer & Storrs, Slater, Mo.,..... 8 7 dr. Time—2:20¾; 2:19; 2:21; 2:20. The 2:19 trot for a $1,000 purse was one full of interest and racing enthusiasm. Dandy Jim was a favorite and showed many peculiarities, letting down completely at times and then spurring with extraordinary speed, filling big gaps. The first two heats were won by him. Blazebury won the third and fifth heats while Catherine Leyburn was first in the fourth and sixth heats. Owing to darkness the race was postponed until 12:30 o'clock to-day.

Blazebury Won. Blazebury won the 2:19 trot Thursday. The last heat was made in 2:20. Dandy Jim went off his feet badly. He was the favorite.

Notes. The streets were crowded and thronged this week. The illumination shone in all its glory and was a beautiful sight.

The electric line is doing great work. The rapid transit move is a good one. The fair ground cars should be called the hummers.

Ben Applegate, the St. Louis detective, is a terror to the "crooks."

They are about as comfortable when he is around as a cat on a hot griddle.

It is thought that Clear Grit's injuries in Wednesday's accident may forever retire him from the track.

Both fore legs are badly cut up, the results of which are not yet definitely known.

Walnut Boy, notwithstanding his accident and his evident attempt to make a mile in a minute in his runaway, came up fresh as a daisy Thursday. The owners of this valuable horse can crack their heels with joy that he was not injured.

The Military band donned their new white duck uniforms and looked quite resplendent. The boys can get fine uniforms, fine instruments and such things as that, but they can never get anything finer than their music.

The undivided interest of the country people in the stock exhibition this week clearly demonstrates that every outlay made in securing the best stock for the fair is more than repaid by the attendance of the farmer and his determination to do something himself at the present and every future fair.

The farmers of Missouri are the cream of the earth and anything done to assist them never fails to reward the doer.

Marshal DeLong and his able corps of policemen are doing nobly. As a rule all cities are overrun with crooks and thieves on such occasions, and while there are a number of very smooth people in town, yet on the whole, the "talent" is only noticeable by its absence. Numerous important arrests have been made, but they were made before the principals had shown their hand to any great extent. It is well, however, to keep your hands on your pocket-books, and avoid the squeeze.

HE CRIED. How Judge Tindall, of Howard County, Acted When Sam Fuller Got Hurt.

The runaway accident at the fair grounds last Wednesday was followed by a most amusing sequel. As every horseman knows Judge H. C. Tindall, of Howard county, thinks Sam Fuller is the very incarnation of goodness, and in common with many others, recognizes him as the best jockey in the state.

This regard for the man himself and his ability as a horseman, is largely due to early association, Judge Tindall having employed Fuller several years ago, when the now famous jockey was comparatively unknown, to train King Herod. Fuller managed the Judge's stable in Howard county for two years and ever since the twain has been as David and Johnathan.

But to the sequel: It was about an hour after the accident mentioned above that several of his Howard county friends, among them Col. B. W. Boone, noticed the Judge standing off by himself looking somewhat melancholy. Approaching nearer, it was noticed that his eyes gave evidence of having been wet with tears. "Why, what's the matter 'Grange'?" questioned Col. Boone familiarly.

Then it was the boys were convulsed with laughter by the following explanation: "Well Sir," began the Judge, "It's the first time I ever played the baby act since I became a man, but when I saw that horse run Sam down, tramp on him and drag him in the dust, and when later on I saw the poor fellow sitting out there in the tent with his jacket torn off and his breeches all busted open behind and Doc Ferguson patching him up, I couldn't help it, but just burst out crying—and I've faced many a cannon, been shot and cut and seen as many sad sights perhaps as any man that ever gave the rebel yell."

Seventh Day Adventists. This denomination is now holding its annual camp meeting and conference at Forest park. The first sermon was preached Wednesday by Elder J. H. Durland, of Oakland, California, from John 11:56. "What think ye, will He come up to the feast?" The sermon was a most impressive one, and listened to with marked attention. Those attending this annual gathering are expecting the best meeting ever held in the state by this people. They feel confident that the Savior will be present upon this occasion, and are earnestly seeking the source to this end.

Three sermons will be preached each day at 11 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 8 p. m. Our people who may attend from this city no doubt will be highly entertained, and as the meetings have been well advertised the attendance, it is expected, will be large. There are from five to six hundred campers on the ground, and more are expected. Elder R. A. Underwood, one of their most interesting speakers is expected by to-morrow. More as the meeting progresses.

Four Londoners Burned to Death. LONDON, Aug. 18.—A fire occurred in the model lodging house in Red Lion square this morning. There were seventy-four persons in the building, and when a search was made of the ruins the bodies of four were found burned to crisp. Several persons were severely injured.

The Society of American Florists met at Washington on the 16th.

NANCY HANKS.

Budd Doble Drives His Mare to a Record of 2:07 1-4.

THE CHICAGO RACE TRACK EXCITED.

A Phenomenal Mile Evident as the Turn is Made—The Vast Audience Irrepressible and Yells of Delight Greet the New Queen.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Maud S. is no longer queen of the trotting turf. The proud position which the daughter of Harold has held so long has been wrestled from her, and Nancy Hanks reigns in her stead.

Yesterday afternoon at Washington park, in the presence of 10,000 spectators, Budd Doble drove his beautiful mare to beat her record of 2:09. She not only beat her own record, but lowered the world's trotting record from 2:08½, the time of Maud S., to 2:07¾.

It was about 3 o'clock when Nancy first came up the track. She passed the grand stand while other horses were scoring and received but little recognition. An hour later she was out and went portions of the track at a 2:20 clip. Doble walked her slowly to the head of the lower turn and then came back to the wire at a gentle pace. After waiting a few moments until a drag which had gone around the track close to the pole had left the track Doble drove her back to the sixteenth pole and then came down at a smashing gate. Frank Starr behind the pace-maker, Abe Lincoln, was waiting for him. Starter Walker leaned far over the railing of the judges' stand, his eyes on Doble's face, watching to see if he wanted the word. Just as the mare shot beneath the wire Doble shook his head. Mr. Walker drew back and Abe pulled up to wait a second trial.

Back to the distance flag this time and at a gentle trot which increased rapidly as she drew near the wire, a nod from Doble, and "go" flashed from Walker's lips as the mare shot like an arrow toward the turn. There was work for Abe Lincoln now and for the first sixteenth of a mile he lost ground steadily. Then Starr urged him on and he was on Nancy's wheel at the quarter. There was not a sound in the densely packed grand stand as the mare flew past the quarter pole in 31¼—a 2:06 gait.

As she started along the back stretch, trotting as true as a die, head well up, her feet striking the ground with the regularity of a pendulum, the crowd began to murmur "She'll never do it; never in the world," but the old timers outlined Doble's gray jacket against the picket fence beyond him as he passed them so rapidly that
